Counters, Scrutineers and Candidates Crowd Vote-Counting Centre

Returning Officer Alan Macfarlane's headquarters was a beehive of activity this morning as the re-check of the election night count got started. Twenty-eight counters struggled throughout the day, and the second count isn't scheduled to start until Saturday. (Times photo.)

Early Poll Tallies Show No Big Change

Many Voters Cast Spoiled Ballots Here

Total spoiled ballots cast by Victorians in the June 12 provincial election may be considerably higher than the 10 per cent previously estimated.

This became apparent today as a re-check of the first count got underway at Returning Officer Alan Macfarlane's headquarters, 911 Government Street.

Mr. Macfarlane said early counting showed many Victorians, struggling with three ballots for the election, had a difficult time understanding the new alternative voting system.

The spoiled ballot count highlighted this morning's activity at Mr. Macfarlane's bustling headquarters.

Many voters, instead of marking first, second and third choices on each ballot, marked "1" on "A" ballot, "2" on "B" ballot and "3" on "C" ballot.

MARKED STARS

Some marked stars instead of crosses to indicate a first choice. Others initiated their ballots. Some wrote in the word "yes" opposite their favorite candidate's name, and then put an "X" through the word.

Many ballots were marked with "X's" in each square, and several voters apparently had equal enthusiasm for two candidates on the same ballot and proceeded to mark a "1" opposite each of them.

Still others placed check marks on the ballots instead of numbers.

And many voters apparently became hopelessly confused and didn't mark the ballots at all. About 28 persons were engaged in the first count vote re-check and the absentee ballot count in the city. The two jobs proceeded simultaneously.

FINISH FRIDAY

The returning officer doesn't expect the check to be completed until Friday night, and the absentee count not until some time Friday. The latter is a slow process because each absentee voter's name has to be checked with the voters' list to guard against anybody voting twice.

The scrutineers took a declaration of secrecy soon after 9 a.m., and the big job was on its way. Scrutineers lined up behind the long live of counters, keeping a sharp eye on the procedure.

OAK BAY FAST

In Oak Bay, Returning Officer George Gardiner and his small counting team completed the absentee vote at about 11:30 a.m., and started doing the re-check of the first count, requested by Progressive Conservative candidate Herbert Ansoncomb, and the second count. Mr. Gardiner hopes to finish the task tonight.

Here is how Oak Bay's absentee votes went: Liberal P. A. Gibbs, 62; P.C. Herbert Ansoncomb, 59; Social Credit George Alexander, 19, and C.C.F. Fred Revis, 13. In Esquimalt, where Social Credit W. N. Chant asked for a re-check of the first count, this job is expected to be finished tonight. Absentee vote tabulating will be done Friday, and a start will be made on the second count.

In Saanich, absentee ballots are being counted, and the second count is expected to start Friday. Most of the morning was spent re-checking 549 rejected ballots. Officials expect about half this number will be approved for acceptance.

Phone Beacon 3131 For Latest Counts

Although it is unlikely that an overall picture will be available tonight in B.C.'s election count, it is possible that returns in about half the ridings will be completed. To keep its readers up to date the Times will provide a telephone service with the latest reports from returning officers all over the province. The phone number is Beacon 3131.

Russia Vetoes Plan to Probe Germ War Claim

U.S. Proposal Blocked in U.N.

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Russia today vetoed a United States proposal for an impartial inquiry into Communist germ warfare charges.

The Security Council vote was 10 to 1 for an investigation in Red China and North Korea by the International Red Cross.

Soviet delegate Jakob Malik had warned in advance that he would veto the U.S. proposal because the council refused to invite the Chinese and Korean Communists to take part in the debate.

U.S. delegate Ernest Gross said Malik's action in killing the inquiry definitely proved the falsity of the Communist charges.

It was the 49th veto cast by Russia since the council first met in 1946.

Rail Workers Seek Boost of $80,000,000

MONTREAL, July 3 (BUP)—The unions that staged Canada's only rail strike two years ago placed new demands before the railroads today and it was reported they totalled $80,000,000 a year.

Spokesmen for 18 non-operating unions said the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National systems would be asked for a 30-cent hourly increase, a union shop and a checkoff of union dues.

About 125,000 rail workers are involved.

Today's negotiations were arranged to replace contracts expiring Sept. 1. The strike in August of 1950 lasted nine days and ended when parliament, which had called for compulsory arbitration, legislated approval of a seven-cent raise and a 40-hour week starting in June of this year.

Plane Crashes, Explodes in Florida Swamp

MYAKKA CITY, Florida—A plane identified as an air force six-engine B-47 jet bomber crashed and exploded in flames on a fringe swamp of the Florida Everglades, three miles northwest of Myakka City, Florida, today.

Attack By Sea Possible

Vanessa co-ordinator for Canada, when he addressed a convention of the Pacific Coast International Association of Law Enforcement officials here.

"Every Communist is an enemy of our country," the tough-talking military officer told the police officials.

"The master principle of all warfare is to break the will of the enemy to fight and that is precisely what Russia will try to do to us."

He said there are many targets which would not necessarily be atom bombed.

Gen. Worthington said there is ample equipment in Canada to train people for civil defense.

"I haven't any more war-houses to put the stuff in," he added.

He said the program for the next year should be training in operations.

"Police are absolutely vital," he declared. "Morale is the big thing we're facing and that's the policeman's job. He's the only man who can do it."

C.C.F. Gains in Nanaimo Absentees Help Johnson

At press time today complete first counts had been reported in eight British Columbia ridings and in Nanaimo and the Islands the second count had been finished.

Official counting of ballots which is to determine what party will form the next government of B.C. began in the 41 ridings at 9 a.m. today.

Indications are that it will be several days and possibly a week before a clear cut picture of the overall election result is obtained.

There was no material change in standings on the complete first counts reported up to this time.

The standing is still C.C.F., one elected and 20 leading; Social Credit, three elected and 11 leading; Liberals, nine leading; Progressive Conservatives, three leading; and Labor, one leading.

In the first second count reported Labor-Progressive Party leader Nigel Morgan was dropped from the ballot in Nanaimo and the Islands. Out of 207 ballots cast for him 43 were plumpers, 142 gave second choices to David Stupich, C.C.F., 11 went to Social Credit, E. J. Brewster, seven to P.C. Larry Giovando and four to Elmer Bradshaw, Liberal.

A third and probably fourth count will be necessary to determine the results.

In New Westminster, Premier Byron Johnson, who led by only three votes on election night, gained 32 when absentee ballots were counted. He now leads C.C.F. candidate Rae Eddie by 4,297 to 4,262 with W. W. Lyle, Social Credit, having 3,614; P. C. Mrs. Elizabeth Wood, 2,163.

The count of absentee votes failed to aid Tory Leader Herbert Ansoncomb. He received 59 absentee votes and his Liberal opponent P. A. Gibbs polled 62 votes. Mr. Gibbs now leads with 3,490 votes and Mr. Ansoncomb is second with 2,675.

This still left 113 candidates in the hunt for the 44 undecided seats.

If no party wins a majority of seats, the result would probably be a minority government for a short time followed by another general election.

Trouble with the election machinery and also with the large proportion of spoiled ballots mounted as the new counting began.

In Victoria, it is estimated the number of spoiled ballots will exceed 10 per cent.

In Vancouver-Burrard, returning officer Robert McGinn rejected one-third (350 out of a 1,098) of the absentee ballots which had been cast at other points in the province for the candidates in Burrard.

The four candidates who are definitely confirmed as elected are C.C.F. leader Harold Winch, and three Social Crediters W. A. C. Bennett, South Okanagan, Ken Kiernan, Chilliwack, and Ralph Chetwynd, Cariboo.

B.C. Election Progress Counts

The following table shows the progress counts from the June 12 general election in B.C. ridings as reported. The first column shows the complete first count, including absentee ballots. Figures after the name of each riding show who held the seat in the last Legislature with majority. Asterisks show members of Oak House.

Two Men, Five Women and Child Found Dead in Mass of Wreckage

HE WAS ASLEEP

Toronto Man Went Through Windshield

WINNIPEG, July 3 (CP)—Walter Blendick, 23-year-old Toronto bar tender, on vacation, dozed in the seat directly behind the driver of a Northland Greyhound Lines bus heading through early-morning darkness into Winnipeg. A sleepy 12-year-old girl sat beside him.

Then his slumber was shattered by a confused noise, a sensation of falling, and a woman's low moan. He opened his eyes and closed the right one as warm blood trickled down his forehead.

"In the beam of some headlights I saw a woman lying on the road about six feet away—blood all over her face, moaning 'Help, help.'"

Blendick had been hurled through the windshield when the bus plowed into a stationary truck, killing eight persons and injuring 28.

"I got up wondering what happened," he said. "I glanced into the bus and then I saw the little girl who had been sitting beside me. She was lying about 10 feet away. She was dead."

(Zena Bundy, 12-year-old Scottish child, and her mother were among the victims.)

Winnipeg-Bound Bus Plows into Truckload Of Machinery Stalled on Pembina Highway

WINNIPEG, July 3 (CP)—Eight persons were killed and 27 injured early today when a Northland Greyhound bus hurtled into the rear of a big truckload of machinery stalled on the Pembina Highway near here.

Two men, five women and a child died. One of the injured was not expected to live.

Police and provincial coroner Dr. I. O. Fryer worked through the morning piecing together information to identify the dead. Three women were still unidentified at noon.

Among the victims were a Scottish mother, Mrs. Dorothy Bundy of R.R. No. 1, North Dixie, Troy, Ohio, and her 12-year-old daughter.

The injured included soldiers en route to prairie points on leave from Valcartier, Que.

Following is a partial list of the victims officially identified:

Bert Miller, 55, Winnipeg; Mrs. Esther Miller, 54, his wife; Louis Nathan, Roseman, Minneapolis, Minn.

Three women were unidentified at 12:30 p.m. C.D.T.

Ambulances Roar Down Highway

Ambulances roared down the highway from Winnipeg in relays, carrying back full loads each trip. Police stopped all traffic in both directions. The wreck tied up two other buses, northbound and southbound. The walking injured were sheltered and later taken to hospital in them.

Police and doctors worked by flashlight in the early morning darkness to release victims. Sleeves rolled up, a doctor crawled into the wreckage to administer first aid to a victim trapped in the wreck.

As the victims were freed they were placed on stretchers and lowered into the rear emergency door to waiting ambulance men.

Joseph Sopko, 22, of suburban Charleswood, driver of the truck, said a bolt broke loose on a rear wheel and he pulled to the side and set out three flares. One flare was not operating well so he stopped another company truck and substituted two of its flares for his own. The driver was to notify the company office of his trouble.

When satisfied that traffic was passing safely, Sopko said he climbed into the cab to wait.

"I didn't hear anything until I flew out the side of the door," he said. "I ended up in the ditch."

PARTIAL LIST

Following is a partial list of passengers injured: (This list was compiled from hospital reports. Identification may not be positive in all cases):

Robert Stavos, Crookston, Minn., broken arm; Virginia Klejwa, Minneapolis, head injuries; Theodorla Klejwa, Minneapolis, fractured leg; Mrs. Alma Dahlberg, 32, Cambridge Minn., shock; Mrs. Myrtle Gillette, Grand Forks, Minn., leg injuries; Mrs. Gertrude Mabry, 71, Vanalia, Illinois, fractured ribs; injuries to legs and shoulders, deep skull laceration.

James Heacock, 77, Port Orchard, Wash., hand and neck injuries; Murray McLaughlin, 45, Winnipeg, shock; Mrs. Leonard Jobin, Winnipeg, knee injuries; Mrs. Louise Yaeger, 64, Toronto, undetermined injuries.

MORE ARRESTS IN DRUG PROBE

VANCOUVER, July 3 (BUP)—Vancouver police today indicated more arrests are pending in the crackdown on distribution of drugs to juveniles after two more people were arrested Wednesday. Bail was refused William Ainsworth, 28, since he was already on bail on a charge of possessing drugs. Bail for Patricia Bagstad, 19, was set at $2,000. Four juveniles were picked up last week in the crackdown.

Smoke Puffs Reported in Plane Search

EDMONTON, July 3 (CP)—A reported sighting of intermittent smoke puffs in the Mayo area of the Yukon today was to be investigated closely by planes searching for an R.C.A.F. Mitchell bomber missing with four men aboard since Monday.

A Canadian Pacific Air Lines pilot flew over the heavily wooded region Wednesday night without finding anything but he advised further investigation.

An R.C.A.F. Dakota carrying a para-rescue team was dispatched to the area early today. The jump team had orders to parachute to the scene if the missing plane was found there.

Aboard the bomber were F.O. J. A. Mortwell, Edmonton; F.O. Pasichniak, Namao, Alta, and recently of Winnipeg; F.O. M. W. Hooper, Cobble Hill, Vancouver Island, and P.O. P. A. Davidson, Westhill, Ont.

Final Reading

OTTAWA, July 3 (CP)—The Commons gave third and final reading today to the bill to redistribute representation in the House after defeating a Progressive Conservative attempt to hold it up until fall.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

PSYCHOLOGY AND POLITICS

HAVING JUST COME through an election campaign which was notable for its liveliness—to put it mildly—it was perhaps only natural that some remarks made by a psychologist on the subject of political campaigns caught my eye.

Dr. Lewis Richardson, a British expert, was recently speaking before the International Congress of Psychology, meeting in London, England, on the rather cynical-sounding subject of "National Hatreds." As an example of such national hatreds he cited how swiftly nations can learn to hate their one-time allies.

SWISS EXAMPLE

BUT WHILE MOST countries have these national hatreds, Switzerland doesn't, according to Dr. Richardson. And in illustration of his claim of immunity from the common hatred virus for that consistently neutral nation on a desert of world-wide strife, he quoted Dr. C. G. Jung, the famous Swiss psychologist, as saying:

"Our (Switzerland's) war-like instincts spend themselves in the form of domestic quarrels called 'political life.' Our (world) order would be perfect if people could only take their lust of combat home into themselves."

PRESCRIPTION FOR SOVIET

DR. RICHARDSON proceeded to elaborate on that theme by suggesting that "a brawling presidential election" on the U.S. model might be the prescription for the Soviet Union's ailments.

The idea is a challenging one. A glance back at history over the last few decades, for instance, indicates that countries that have healthy, democratic political battles rarely start wars. In contrast to dictatorships and authoritarian regimes where these outlets are bottled up and the aggressive factor in man has to expend itself beyond the borders.

SAFETY VALVE?

FRANKLY I HAD never thought of election campaigns as a safety valve for national hatreds until that psychologist suggested it. Those of us who share the British heritage of political freedom—and that includes our American friends across the border—have for so long taken the democratic processes for granted that we accept election campaigns as a natural consequence of those processes.

And if, in the process, we generate a certain amount of heat in fighting over policies and programs, issues and planks, election campaigns in Canada and Britain, at any rate, have been commendably free from anything suggestive of hatreds, either national, regional or local.

RIGID REPRESSION

THIS FREE INTERCHANGE of argument, this battle of words, may well be a safety valve to emotions that need a vent every now and again. And I can readily understand the brooding sense of wrong that might be engendered were there no opportunities for the expression of protests against the powers-that-be—or for the manifestation of electoral approval of those same authorities, for that matter.

It doesn't need much imagination to assess the feeling of political impotence that must be burning in the souls of the peoples of the satellite countries behind the Iron Curtain, feelings wrought by rigid repression of the freedoms which are the very foundation of democracy.

MUST FIND OUTLET

SUCH FEELINGS CANNOT be repressed forever. There might well come a time when the bottled-up emotions will explode, when the hidden fires will suddenly burst out into flame, when repressed senses of grievance will find terrible expression in a world-shaking emission of national hatred.

So there may well be something in that psychologist's contention that healthy "brawling" election campaigns and political battles offer a safety valve by which the people can let off steam—with damaging effect only to a few politicians perhaps. But better that than to repress hidden fires until they smoulder and spread underground, only to burst out finally into a world-consuming holocaust.

Civilian Defenses May Decide War's Outcome, Briton Says

CALGARY, July 3 (CP)—The outcome of any future war will depend as much on civilian defense as actual armed preparation. Sir John Hodsoll, director-general of civil defense training in Great Britain, said Wednesday.

Speaking at the annual convention of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, Sir John said everything in war ultimately depends on the spirit of the civilian population.

He said an adequate civil defense organization cannot be built after bombs start falling but must be given long and careful planning.

Sir John said war in Europe will almost certainly result in

The Lowdown On G.O.P. Possibles

How much do you know about what's happening inside the two major U.S. political parties as convention time approaches? Here's the penetrating story on the struggle for political power, detailed by John Gunther, one of this generation's best-known reporters. This is the fourth of his five articles on the Republican Party, written exclusively for NEA Service and The Victoria Daily Times.

BY JOHN GUNTHER

Written for NEA Service

The lowdown on Taft is simple. He is a gritty, determined, frustrated man of strong character and ability, who positively, aggressively, stubbornly wants the White House job.

Enemies of Taft cannot forgive him for what they call his inordinate bad judgment, though they concede his honesty. The old joke, still fresh, is that "he has reached more wrong decisions more ably than any man in American public life."

Taft makes up his mind and never budges. He voted against selective service. He voted against the confirmation of Henry Stimson, the grand old man of the Republican Party, as secretary of war.

He voted against Lend Lease, against the use of armed forces outside the Western hemisphere, against the seizure of Axis ships, against the British loan after the war, against the North Atlantic Pact, against Point Four and against the Military Defense Assistance Act of 1949, which included military aid to Korea.

How, his opponents ask, can any man with such a record be fit to be president of the United States in the modern world, when democracy all over the world is grappling with the gravest, most menacing threat it has ever faced?

Taft will, on the domestic side, face hot opposition from labor. He says in reply that it was labor no less—that made his stunning Ohio victory possible in 1950. But he was facing an extremely weak opponent. And there were other special factors at work.

The lowdown on Eisenhower is not so simple. He is an honest, good man, much more complex than most people think, somewhat thin-skinned, somewhat deficient in a sense of humor, a man with a genius for conciliation and running a team, who nevertheless lacks concrete political experience.

He probably wants to be president just as much as Taft does, but his friends would say that there is a difference. Ike's attitude is more humble; he wants to serve.

That Eisenhower is a military man is a major argument against him. Soldiers are trained to think that command comes from the top; civilians that it comes from the bottom.

But Ike back in America and speaking out on this issue in speeches and press conferences, hammers his belief that the military should be subordinate to civilian authority. Out of uniform, he looks and acts like a most unarmy general, and his record seems to show that he is personally elastic enough to be like a civilian.

Isolationists say that Ike is too much of an internationalist, too much tainted with the Truman-Acheson brush. Liberals say that he is too conservative, and conservatives that he is too liberal.

"Every time Eisenhower opens his mouth, he is going to lose some tail-feathers," one eminent Washington pundit has said. The metaphor is mixed, but it holds some truth. Heretofore, he is remembered, Ike has always been in a protected position.

But since he came home and took off his uniform he has shown marked skill in handling himself without that protection. He is obviously adept at fending off the slings and arrows that come his way from any quarter.

Positive advantages to Eisenhower are many.

(1) He looks like a winner, and thus gives confidence. Many Republicans who would personally prefer Taft will support him, because they think that he can win.

(2) Better than any Republican, he could heal political wounds and unify the country.

(3) People know that he is internationally-minded, and stands for peace. There will be no war-mongering under Ike, but he will not be weak. In an era of international crisis, he is perfectly fitted by experience to handle anything the Russians may attempt.

(4) Women, who are more numerous than men in the United States, like him.

(5) He is almost certainly bound to pick up more independent and Democratic votes than Taft. The fact that there is such a large independent vote favors Ike, not Taft. Nobody should forget that Minnesota write-in.

(6) Those sensitive about such things will never forgive Taft for the apparently bare-faced theft of Eisenhower delegates at the Texas state convention.

(7) Above all, Eisenhower is not a politician. One of the strangest paradoxes in American public life is that, though the power of politicians depends on the people, most people don't like politicians.

Eisenhower, it has been said, must run on the right to get the nomination, on the left to get the election. Only a middle-roader can perform such a feat, if it is possible at all.

Taft and Eisenhower are so far ahead of the field that, to talk of other candidates, is like stepping from the locomotive to the caboose.

Warren? He is an extraordinarily decent, capable and high-minded man, with a fine progressive record in California. Moreover, the fact that he rolled up 260,000 votes to Taft's 314,000 in Wisconsin, though he lacked organization support and only made a limited campaign, proves that he has some national strength. Labor favors him among all Republican choices.

The lowdown on Warren is that he could only be nominated in the event of a long deadlock, and as will be discussed in the last article in this series, a deadlock at Chicago is unlikely.

Some people say that Warren is actively working for a deadlock, and that he will trade on his powerful strength in delegates to bid for the vice-presidency or a cabinet post. This is not quite accurate. Warren is not a trader by nature. He would like to have the presidency, but he would not be a candidate for the psychiatrist's couch if he fails.

Warren entered the race initially because he was angry at Taft tactics in California. The Taft managers said that Taft was the only "true" candidate, that there was no other choice. This infuriated Warren, and he deliberately tied up his delegation to frustrate the Taft manoeuvre. At the convention, he will play by ear. When he releases his delegates, they will be free to go anywhere—probably most of them to Eisenhower.

Another obstacle to Warren's

FORMAL—A shipment of King penguins, the gift of the governor of the Falkland Islands, off South America, was expected to arrive in Vancouver, B.C., Thursday, where the birds will become the only King penguins in captivity anywhere in the nation.

The birds were flown to New York in a plane equipped with "houses of ice" to protect them from the heat. The Trans-Canada Airlines plane flying them west was also outfitted with special refrigeration equipment.

Zoo keeper Alan Best said he understood the birds were in "good shape." He said he did not know exactly how many of the "white tie and tails" birds there were, but planned to put them on show at the Stanley Park Zoo after a short quarantine.

FIRST—In Dawson Creek, B.C., Avril Yockney was on the last lap of her attempt to become the first woman to travel the Alaska Highway by motorcycle today.

The 26-year-old former British newspaperwoman became the first person to motorcycle over the newly-opened John Hart Highway linking Prince George and Dawson Creek, Tuesday. She will travel by motorcycle to Fairbanks, Alaska, then return to Vancouver, B.C.

FAILED—In New York the strike by the United States Radio Writers Guild against three major radio and television networks has failed to interrupt broadcasts and telecasts.

The duties of the striking guild writers, and script writers who refused to cross picket lines, have been taken over by supervisory personnel, the networks said.

Members of the guild, an independent union, went on strike Wednesday at the American Broadcasting Company, the Columbia Broadcasting System and the National Broadcasting Company, after contract negotiations broke down.

SUPERSONIC—In Palmdale, Calif., the U.S. Air Force revealed today a new, high-flying, supersonic jet plane that it hopes can meet any attacking bomber well beyond the borders and shorelines of the United States.

Test Pilot Anthony William (Tony) LeVier demonstrated the "almost automatic" Starfire F-94C. He jockeyed the plane through hairpin turns, rolls, loops and other combat manoeuvres, often only 50 feet off the ground.

The Starfire is the first fighting plane to have all rocket armament. It carries 24 rockets, 2.75 inches in size, and a ring of firing tubes around the blunt, radar-encased nose.

OUTLOOK—The Tacoma News Tribune, closed nearly three months by a strike of pressmen, "is looking forward to resumed publication on Monday," business manager George Russell said Wednesday.

Russell said the back-to-work proposal rejected by the pressmen Tuesday night is being offered to other unions and the newspaper is "looking forward to resumed publication on Monday, July 7."

Russell did not elaborate on the statement.

Terms of the back-to-work offer turned down by the pressmen have not been revealed. Their walkout in a demand for more money closed down the newspaper nearly 12 weeks ago.

SHRIMPS—In Portland what may develop into a new Pacific northwest industry was described Wednesday by Arnie J. Suomela, Oregon fisheries director.

He said recent tests by the Oregon Fish Commission off Coos Bay indicated that shrimp could be caught there in commercial quantities.

He said about 700 pounds of shrimp were brought up from the ocean floor in five drags during the tests. The floor—soft, green mud—is 50 to 90 fathoms down.

ARSONIST—Police were searching today for an arsonist who set fire to a Red and White store at Port Coquitlam, Wednesday, causing $5,000 damage.

Police said the blaze was of incendiary origin. Fourteen members of the volunteer fire brigade kept the blaze from spreading.

New Prisoner Plan Offered

Communist Proposal Branded 'Lot of Gimmicks' by Allied Truce Delegates

MUNSAN, Korea, July 3 (AP)—Communist negotiators today offered a new plan for breaking the Korean truce talks deadlock, but an Allied spokesman said the proposal contains a "lot of gimmicks and potential gimmicks."

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison, Jr., said the Red plan "may be an important one and it may not."

The Reds indicated they would ease their demand for return of all military prisoners in United Nations stockades, provided the 20,000 Chinese captives are returned. They asked for secret sessions to discuss the proposal.

WILL BE STUDIED—Harrison, the senior Allied negotiator, immediately called for adjournment until Friday to study it. He did not reply to the Communist demand for secret sessions.

"The exact meaning and the full significance of the Red proposal is not immediately apparent to the United Nations command," said Brig. Gen. William F. Nuckols, U.N. spokesman. "Allied refusal to repatriate any prisoner who does not want to go home has deadlocked the truce talks for weeks."

Last April the U.N. screened most of the 169,000 war captives and civilian internees in its stockades and found that about 100,000 did not want to return to Communist rule. The total included about 15,000 Chinese war prisoners.

The new Red proposal closely resembled the Communists' May offer. Then the Reds demanded return of 116,000 North Korean and Chinese prisoners of war. They indicated, however, they might yield on 16,000 South Koreans impressed into the North Korean army and might not argue over the disposition of 37,500 civilian internees.

RECLASSIFICATION ASKED—The Communists Thursday proposed that all Korean war captives be "reclassified" according to nationality and area and that prisoner lists be checked.

They agreed to permit Allied-held South Koreans to "return immediately without being repatriated," but insisted on return of all Chinese prisoners.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il said "if your side agrees to this proposal on our side so that a sensible agreement may be reached on the question of exchange of war prisoners, our side is convinced that an armistice in Korea will result without delay."

International Meeting Of Mayors in Montreal

CALGARY, July 3 (CP)—An international conference of Canadian, American and overseas mayors may be held next year at Montreal.

George Mooney, of Montreal, executive director of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, said the idea may be adopted before the federation winds up its annual convention here tonight.

Mr. Mooney said the federation hopes to hold an international conference in 1953 which would be attended by the United States President, the Canadian Prime Minister, and the Premiers of France and Britain.

The international meeting would be held in two parts. The Canadian delegates would meet alone to consider strictly Canadian problems, and the representatives of all countries would meet to consider problems common to all.

The final day of the conference is crowded with last-minute business. There is a discussion on ways to meet the problems of municipal growth, a speech by Mr. Justice Sir Brian Fielding of the Newfoundland Supreme Court, decision on several resolutions and election of officers.

PEARSON'S WARNING—In a speech Wednesday, External Affairs Minister Pearson told the delegates the Allies should soon reach the point where they need not rely on the atom bomb to deal with Russia. But he warned that their biggest mistake would be in yielding to the temptation to cut down on the defence program.

"The danger remains great and pressing," he said.

On recent events in Korea, Mr. Pearson told reporters Canada had not been consulted on the bombing of power installations on the Yalu River, but "a strong case for argument exists for the opinion that it was strictly a military decision."

MOTHER ADMITS BEATING BABY

WESTPORT, Connecticut, July 3 (BUP)—Canadian-born 27-year-old Mrs. Ella Kutsagoltz, admitted today trying to beat her three-week-old son to death in their trailer camp home because she did not want the baby.

Mrs. Kutsagoltz, a native of Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, was released in $5,000 bond pending arraignment in court on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

Detective Captain Edward Capasse said her husband Frank, a 44-year-old part-time gardener, returned home from work June 23 and found the infant covered with bruises. The baby was taken to Norwalk Hospital where his condition was critical.

South Korea Assembly to Start Voting

PUSAN, Korea, July 3 (UP)—The South Korean National Assembly, its members rooted out of hiding, freed from jail or coaxed to attend, mustered 131 members for a meeting today, more than enough to elect a president or to change the constitution.

A bizarre police round-up of reluctant politicians was followed by the release of 10 assemblymen arrested five weeks ago in President Syngman Rhee's "clean-up drive" against the legislature.

Three of the jailed assemblymen were freed outright. The other seven, still under vague "Communist conspiracy" charges, were released on bail.

The 10 released from jail raised the total number of assemblymen present at today's meeting to 131. Only 123 are required to begin a vote for president, who can be elected by a simple majority on a third ballot.

Eighty-five of those present had been there since Wednesday afternoon. They stayed in the assembly hall all night long, the dragging hours heightened by two movies and a risqué short subject.

Mrs. McCullough On Trial Monday

WINNIPEG, July 3 (CP)—Mrs. Lillian McCullough of Winnipeg will be released from Selkirk Mental Hospital Monday to stand trial for the slaying of her seven-year-old foster daughter, Martha Louise, police said Wednesday.

Detective-Inspector George Blow said the 32-year-old woman will appear Monday for preliminary hearing in Winnipeg police court. A warrant ordering her appearance was taken out on the authority of Crown Prosecutor C. W. Tupper.

Mrs. McCullough was charged jointly with her husband, Gavin, after the bludgeoned and strangled body of the little girl was found in their suburban Elmwood home last Jan. 23. Her husband, 51-year-old former office manager for the Winnipeg Chamber of Commerce, was acquitted May 22 by an Assize Court jury on the murder charge.

The defense successfully pleaded he was insane at the time and under the influence of his wife.

The Crown stayed proceedings against Mrs. McCullough Feb. 21, shortly after she was committed to Selkirk Hospital. Previously she had been kept under police guard in the psychiatric ward of Winnipeg General Hospital.

Mr. McCullough was ordered held in Headingly jail "until the pleasure of the lieutenant-governor is known," a sentence equal to an indefinite term. Recommendation for his release will have to come from the attorney-general and the provincial cabinet.

While New Zealand is primarily a farming dominion, it also produces coal, petroleum, gold and silver.

Two Parties in Trouble

THE CONSERVATIVE PARTY OF British Columbia apparently intends to choose a new leader, in succession to Mr. Anson, without delay. Undoubtedly it will be wise to do so. There can be little question about its choice. The only question is whether Mr. Ernest Carson will accept an onerous, thankless and daunting task. For the real question ahead of the Conservative party is not whether it shall soon strike for office, but whether it can survive as a significant factor in our politics.

A Conservative party, whatever name it may bear, is an essential balance wheel in our parliamentary system. Under one name or another there will always be such a party. At the moment, in British Columbia, we witness the first stages of a struggle for possession of this respectable rightist position between the historic Conservative party and the Social Credit party, which is determined to take over the leadership of the right, lock, stock and barrel.

It will require all the resources of the Conservative party and all the high abilities of Mr. Carson, if he is ready to undertake this project, to prevent the party from gradually and rapidly disappearing, as it has virtually disappeared in Alberta, under the impact of Social Credit and in Saskatchewan under the impact of the C.C.F.

It was clear from the beginning that emergence of Social Credit in British Columbia was basically a revolt within the Conservative party and mainly against Mr. Anson. The most effective single force within Social Credit was Mr. W. A. C. Bennett, who, having failed to replace Mr. Anson in the Conservative leadership, first contemplated a new independent party of his own and then decided to climb upon the Social Credit bandwagon while he had the chance.

Men like Mr. Bennett know precisely what they are doing—they are not out to destroy Conservatism but to give it another incarnation under a new name. For which purpose the first step was to destroy Mr. Anson.

Mr. Anson, as was said here when he carried his party's convention some two years ago, could never hope to succeed, for family reasons, but he can leave politics in honor after extremely valuable contributions to our provincial life as a great public servant.

It is to be hoped that his outstanding talents, although they do not include the capacity to carry the province or lead a party, will be put to other public use. To British Columbians, who know all sides of Mr. Anson's character, it is a little irritating to hear The Ottawa Journal, the Conservative organ in Ottawa, edited by Mr. Gratton O'Leary, the party's chief orator, say that Mr. Anson and Mr. Johnson also should be swept into the "oblivion" which they deserve. Assuredly neither have deserved anything but the gratitude of British Columbia for their long services and essential honesty.

Both these men, still in the prime of their energies, can yet do valuable work for British Columbia in public or business life. British Columbia does not require any enlightenment from The Ottawa Journal or any other outside source—quite ignorant of the facts—on the character of the Liberal and Conservative leaders.

If the Conservative party's immediate position is clear—the impending retirement of Mr. Anson and the appointment of a new leader, probably Mr. Carson—it is a little too early to foresee what the Liberal party will do. In the legislature the Conservative party has been reduced to a slender splinter. The final count of ballots may give the Liberal party a substantial group and continue it as a major force in our politics, able to rebuild its strength before another election within a year or so.

But the dangers to the Liberal party, which all Liberals will be wise to face without blinking, are obvious. Like the Conservative party it is caught in the confusion and fragmentation of our politics and must prepare itself for a hard and possibly a long struggle to maintain its position as the party of the centre, Liberalism's historic position.

Only when the votes are finally counted and the Liberal party knows precisely where it stands can it calculate its immediate position in or out of office. Whether it is in or out of office is not the major question before it. The major question is whether, by standing by its Liberal principles, re-organizing its strength and finding a new leader of adequate abilities, it can continue to exercise those moderating and unifying influences on our politics which the extreme left wing of socialists and the extreme right wing of Social Credit are desperately trying to exterminate.

Though gravely wounded in one election, the Liberal party has a great part to play in our future politics—provided it understands and expresses Liberalism.

The Civil Service

IT IS REASSURING TO HEAR FROM its official spokesman that the B.C. Government's Employees' Association made no pre-election deal with Mr. Winch. According to A. C. Bennett, assistant general secretary of the association, "No discussion was held with Mr. Winch on this subject (wages and working hours) at any time." The association, says Mr. Bennett, is "strictly non-political."

For two reasons the association will be wise to remain non-political and to make no deals with any political party.

In the first place, an impartial public service, whose members can serve any government equally well, is one of the essential pillars of our governmental system. A civil service pursuing active politics would plunge the day-to-day management of public business into partisanship and give prejudiced judgments in the acts of administration.

Today a citizen dealing with our excellent civil service knows that he will receive a fair and impartial treatment, according to the law. Some civil servants no doubt are appointed to office as a reward for political service—a few examples are notorious—but these cases are few. For the most part the political views of our leading officials, like deputy ministers, are unknown and their impartiality beyond question. We can be proud of these men, some of the ablest in the nation.

Secondly, if the civil service were to go into politics and favor one party or another inevitably it would be penalized, if that party were defeated. Quite rightly, a party coming to office and finding its officials actively involved in another party, would dismiss them and install its own partisans. We would be back to all the evils of the spoils system, which has been largely purged out of provincial administration.

Mr. Winch no doubt is trying to rally the civil service vote and influence to the C.C.F. by promising large rewards in wages and working conditions. If these are justified on their merits any government should accept them. If they are not justified any government should refuse them. If political parties are to settle these questions only with an eye on the civil service vote they will soon involve the civil service in partisan politics. The public business will suffer as a result and so will the civil servants, who will then be at the mercy of changing governments and hungry politicians. The Government Employees' Association is surely too sensible to fall into such an obvious trap.

Honoring a Fine Citizen

CLASSICAL WRITERS OF ANCIENT civilizations and modern thinkers whose ideas appear in current publications have explored the characteristics of the good citizen. Definitions vary, yet it is common ground that the good citizen is a person whose service to a community goes beyond the simple adherence to laws and the requirements of group life to add something of value to the city of which that person is a resident.

That, unquestionably, was the guiding principle followed by the selection committee of the Native Sons of British Columbia when it chose Miss Sara Spencer for the citizenship award presented during "I Am a Canadian Day" ceremonies at Beacon Hill Park this week. The choice was excellent.

During a lifetime that has kept her in close touch with the affairs of Victoria, Miss Spencer has shown keen interest in this city's progress—an interest which has led her to take an active and effective part in improving the city in many ways. All her benefactions are not, and cannot be, on record. The public, however, has had ample opportunity to appreciate her generosity and constructive effort in those fields which are conventionally called cultural.

Her work with the symphony group, her leadership in the establishment of an arts centre here, her abiding concern for the improvement of social service facilities, are all matters of common knowledge.

The Spencer name is revered in this community because of a long list of philanthropies and because of the manner in which members of the family have demonstrated their sense of responsibility for Victoria's growth and improvement.

The presentation of the Native Sons of B.C. award to Miss Spencer has furnished an opportunity to acknowledge the debt owed to her by grateful fellow citizens.

The Communist Vote

SOMEWHAT OVERLOOKED IN THE general B.C. election hubbub is the fact that four out of five Communist candidates went down on the first count, with the fifth expected to fall momentarily. In all, the Communists, who like to masquerade as "an official party" under the name of Labor Progressives, polled some 2,400 first votes out of 750,000, or about three-tenths of 1 per cent of the total cast.

Those who take heart at such a rebuke might pause to consider another aspect of the case: 2,400 traitors, strategically placed, could do considerable damage in time of crisis. For it must always be remembered that these are not ordinary voters: they are dedicated to the overthrow of the existing system by any means within their power.

Consider for a moment their position in the fishing industry. The majority of fishermen are loyal Canadians, but a number of key men in their union are known Communists. As such, they constitute a peril to our coastline and our communications far greater than did the Japanese in the days before Pearl Harbor.

They are also known to hold important positions at Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. Ltd., where the professed Communist Harvey Murphy recently scored a notable union victory. The strategic importance of this plant, with its vital output of chemicals and heavy water, makes it a prime target for their nefarious work.

Eternal vigilance should be the watchword in dealing with these potential saboteurs. We trust that the R.C.M.P. will "maintain the right" and deal with them promptly, should the need arise.

LOOSE ENDS

The Vumps

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

THE final count of election ballots, as Mr. Montague Fwap, Q.C., rightly observes, cannot affect the future of a movement so deep, durable and historic as the Universal No-Party Party (U.N.P.P.). We may not elect many members to the Legislature and even those elected no doubt will be ignored by the newspapers, but we shall remain, as Mr. Fwap told our caucus last night, a "vital force" which ultimately must come to office.

"In politics," said Mr. Fwap, quoting Dickens' famous Inspector Bucket, "any move is a probable move, so long as it is in the wrong direction." For this reason he dismissed, because it is generally believed, the theory that there will be another election in the immediate future. Since everyone expects it, he said, we may be sure there will be no early election.

ONLY the Social Credit Party will want an election, said Mr. Fwap, because it thinks it can easily win if the public is given no chance to clarify its mind. "Do you suppose," asked Mr. Fwap in a magnificent rhetorical question, "that any of these newly-elected members, just edging in by a few votes, are eager to risk their seats and their sessional indemnities, which most of them would certainly lose at another poll? Do you suppose that the political parties, having spent every cent of their campaign funds and got precious little in return, will want to face a second bankruptcy?"

"And if Mr. Winch somehow comes to office with only 30 per cent of the electors behind him, will he wish to plunge into another election which will certainly defeat him almost before he has learned to hang up his hat on the prime minister's hat rack?"

"No, sir, however they may disagree on high principles and fundamental public policy, the politicians will instinctively agree on the still higher principle and the still more fundamental policy of avoiding another election like the plague, at least until they get a little fat on their bones after this summer's ghastly famine."

ON the whole Mr. Fwap thought that the U.N.P.P. should welcome the chance to go into opposition. The worst thing that could happen to any party at the moment, he thought, was to form a government for the life of such a government would be tragic, brutal and short.

Consider, he remarked, the misfortune of Mr. Winch if—solely in the public interest, of course—he were called to office and accepted it. Mr. Winch, Mr. Fwap pointed out, had guaranteed, among other trivia, to reduce hospital insurance premiums when already the insurance scheme was incurring gigantic and constantly-increasing deficits; to socialize electricity, which would involve borrowing several hundred million dollars from the hard-headed brokers of Wall Street; and to take over the breweries, thus being blamed by every drinker for the flavor of the beer and the small size of the glasses.

BESIDES, when Mr. Winch undertook to levy special taxes on the big industries he would be blamed by them for taxing too much, while the small industries would complain that he was not taxing enough to eliminate their powerful competitors.

"MR. WINCH," said Mr. Fwap, with a generous gesture, "should receive not the envy but the deepest pity of the other parties, which, in ordinary human kindness, should end his agony as soon as possible. There is, of course, the danger that Mr. Winch will refuse to take office and put his head in a noose, even if he is called, but I doubt that danger is very real. Having received less than a third of the total vote, Mr. Winch will rightly interpret it as a clear mandate to construct the socialist state. His sense of duty will compel him to carry out the clear verdict of his people, to do what two-thirds of the voters have rejected. He will hear a ringing, clarion call and he will answer it. Then the fun will begin and it ought to be subject to the amusement tax."

AT the moment, Mr. Fwap concluded, a large number of British Columbians, elected by the second and third alternative votes, and, in fact, rejected by a majority of the people on the first choice, consider themselves Very Important Persons, or VIPs. They will presently find, Mr. Fwap predicted, that they are Very Unimportant Persons, or VUMPS. From now until some time about a year hence, in Mr. Fwap's view, there will be an open season on VUMPS and thus excellent hunting for the U.N.P.P. He therefore advised us to keep our powder dry, for we could not expect to see the whites of the enemy's eyes for another year or so, and by that time they would be pretty bloodshot and dim with tears.

Drawing the Line

Ottawa Citizen

The moguls of the minor leagues have decreed that Mrs. Eleanor Engle, 24, brunette, and good-looking, shall not play the infield for the Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, club. (This club performs in a Class B circuit.) No other woman has ever been given a contract in organized baseball, and the news concerning Mrs. Engle struck its citadels like a thunder-bolt.

In this crisis there arises the grim figure of Mr. Clarence Etchison, manager of the Harrisburg team, like Horatio repelling the Tuscan hordes. Mr. Etchison's own board of directors had signed the young stenographer. Did he take refuge in a weak excuse, such as that she had only played softball before and might not be able to hit Class B professional pitching? He did not. He just said:

She'll play ball when hell freezes over. I won't have any gal on my club.

A day may come when the name of this sturdy manager is placed among the immortals in baseball's hall of fame at Cooperstown, as the savior of the game and therefore of organized society.

PENSIONS FOR MEMBERS

Perhaps there would be less criticism of the pensions for members of parliament, had parliament first given greater heed to the much more urgently needed revision of the disabled veterans' pensions.

No doubt this latter would mean a far greater cost to the country, but cost is not always the most important factor; and it must be remembered that it was parliament's greatly (at that time) criticized boost of its own members' salaries, which touched off inflation and started the inordinate demand for increase of pay and shortage of hours, which has not yet been checked, and which has raised all costs to such dangerous heights.

OUT ON A LIMB

The final result after juggling No. 2 votes in most cases will be as follows:
Social Credit 26 seats
C.C.F. 16 seats
Liberal 5 seats
Conservative 0 seats
Labor 1 seat
48 seats

In coming to above conclusion I figured none of the parties would give the C.C.F. their No. 2 vote that would be worth while to them, and none of the parties would likewise benefit with a C.C.F. No. 2 vote. Again, not many of the Liberals or Conservatives would give their No. 2 vote to one another, but both these parties if they did vote a No. 2 or 3 would give it to Social Credit, thinking that that party could never make the grade, as all parties underestimated the possibility of S.C. coming out on top, figuring it was a new party with no organization, which unfortunately was too true, as it had not the money or organization. But the real reason why the public voted for them was they were so sick and tired of the other two parties, Liberals and Conservatives, that the public were willing to throw away their vote to any other party whom they figured might at least do something for the people and the province, and give them a little free enterprise, too. It is a lesson to all parties to keep their ear to the ground and listen to the voice of the man on the street. The silent vote can do a lot to win an election as well as the thinking man or woman, and nowadays the people are doing their own thinking and voting. They are not going to be told by politicians or bribed to vote for any party, much less man.

MARY STUART

Your correspondent of June 27 evidently acquires her historical knowledge from novels like Kenilworth, which are rarely true to fact and often misleading. It is news to me that Mary Stuart was of the Italian family of Medici. I always understood that her mother was a Lorraine and therefore related to the Guises. She was very distantly connected with the Medici family through her marriage to the Dauphin of France.

France never had cause to conspire with Mary as, after the death of the Dauphin, she never laid any claim to either the throne of Scotland or England. In any event, even had she been "a tool in the Medici's endless plotting against Elizabeth," there is no justification for the brutal slaying of this innocent woman, in spite of what your correspondent thinks I am beginning to wonder whether the temperament of some women has changed through the ages in spite of our boasted civilization.

Salute New Christ Church Dean

(The following editorial appeared recently in the St. Catharines, Ont., Standard, under the heading: "Most Unique Record.")

IN THE PAST 20 YEARS, THERE HAS been witnessed the elevation of three rectors of St. George's Church in this community to diocesan Bishops and two other rectors to probably the most important Deanery incumbencies in all of Canada. For one parish church that probably constitutes the most unique record in the history of the Church of England in Canada.

The latest appointment is that of the Rev. Canon P. R. Beattie, rector of St. George's as dean of the Diocese of British Columbia, and rector of Christ Church Cathedral, Victoria, B.C. In his letter which was read to St. George's congregation on Sunday, His Lordship, Rt. Rev. Walter Bagnall, Bishop of Niagara Diocese, stated Canon Beattie would not only be "called upon to minister to one of Canada's greatest congregations, but also to be, in part at least, responsible for the completion of what will be one of the greatest cathedrals on the North American continent."

Bishop Bagnall, in his very warm letter to the people, declared that the departure of Canon Beattie from St. George's, was an occasion of both sorrow and rejoicing. There is sorrow in losing a man greatly beloved and who has done such outstanding work in his own parish and in the diocese, to the extent that his counsel has always been sought by church leaders and there is rejoicing that his heart and talent can be applied in the magnificent opportunity which awaits him in that great vibrant City of Victoria, B.C.

The Bishop also expressed his personal regret over the departure of Canon Beattie, his own Domestic Chaplain. When the Bishop of British Columbia extended the invitation to Canon Beattie, Bishop Bagnall felt that he had to concur in the acceptance.

In the departure of Canon Beattie, there is a sense of great community loss for St. Catharines. A leader, a profound scholar and thinker and a warm personality, one who took a deep interest in all affairs of concern to his fellowman is about to leave this city and district. To many it will be distinctly a personal loss.

Reinforcing Our Air Strength

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP
From Washington

THE American air force in Korea is now receiving massive reinforcements of jet fighters and fighter bombers. The planned reinforcement will increase the overall strength by nearly 40 per cent and the strength in jet planes by an even higher percentage.

This great and painful effort is a response to a corresponding reinforcement of the Communist air force above the Yalu. Until recently, the Communist air units in a position to participate in the Korean fighting were estimated to number 2,000 aircraft, with a thousand jet fighters. In recent weeks, at least 200 and more probably 300 new jet fighters have been added to this Communist force.

Furthermore, the strengthening of the Communist air force has been accompanied by other signs even more disquieting, although less clearly defined for public consumption.

"The Russians," it is said by those who will discuss the subject at all, "are taking a far more overt part." Reports are circulating that the Communist Air Force in the Korean theatre now includes Russian units which have not gone through the significant formality of having their insignia painted over.

There are several different ways to measure the potential importance of these developments. Under the secretary of the air force, Roswell Gilpatric, the acting chief of air staff, Gen. Nathan Twining, and the air force fighter commander, Gen. Roger Ramey, have just left for Korea for a personal inspection of the front line situation. A party of this character would hardly have been sent unless serious concern were felt.

Again, the reinforcement of our Korean air units has in turn necessitated really disturbing changes in other priorities. In order to muster the necessary F-86s and F-84s, plans for strengthening the strategic air command and equipping the N.A.T.O. forces in Europe have had to be readjusted. Such crucial schedules as these would hardly have been altered, if the position in Korea were not causing real worry.

All this does not mean, of course, that new trouble in Korea is now to be regarded as a certainty, or even as a probability. For one thing, so far as is known, the reinforcements of the Communist air power do not yet include jet fighter bombers. With really fast fighter bombers (which one must remember could be sent into Manchuria at the last minute), the Communists could make a pretty fair stab at neutralizing the American forward airfields in the Seoul area.

But with the obsolete medium bombers which they now possess, the Communists will have the odds heavily against them in any such attempt.

While we occupy the Seoul airfields, the Communist air units will find it very difficult to prepare and use their own airfields in North Korea. And without these forward air bases of their own, the short range Communist MiGs can not easily challenge our supremacy in the air over the battle lines.

However, anyone who seeks to forecast the future in Korea (or in Berlin and several other places, for that matter) is undertaking an impossible and foolish assignment. But by the same token, anyone who pretends that there is no serious danger in Korea (as well as in Berlin and several other places) is being idiotically complacent. However painful the effort may be, the American air reinforcement is undoubtedly justified, and it will reduce the danger.

Ups and Downs

By BRIAN TOBIN

"A LOT of things," said the Elevator Man, "are notable for what we don't do about them rather than for what we do. Take the national holiday, for instance. You'd think that every person in the country would take part in some kind of ceremony marking the nation's birthday. Yet I doubt if one out of ten did, and even more likely one out of a hundred. Yet that doesn't indicate what the bulk of the people really think about it. A good many fellows would use any excuse to dodge marching in a parade or standing in a crowd listening to a speech, didn't waste any time joining up to fight for their country. It's just that Canadians don't get very excited about that kind of thing. And at that, a population that goes fishing, plays golf, loafs in the garden, builds a dog kennel, washes its hair, sits on the beach or crowds the stands at some sport is a better advertisement for a country than a people that hurries to march in demonstrations for fear some neighbor will accuse them of not being patriotic. The speeches are necessary. Somebody ought to give a reminder of the freedom we have, put into words what the rest of the folks are putting into action. But when the speeches become the main thing, better watch out. Going up!"

"That colonel," said the Elevator Man, "down in Arizona had the right idea. He hated parades. So when he was ready to retire and they wanted to stage a special parade for him he said, 'Nuts. Give the boys a day off instead.' So 5,000 officers and men celebrated his retirement by not parading, instead of parading. They liked it better. He liked it better. They liked him better. It seemed to be unanimous. Lower main!"

"Of course," said the Elevator Man, "some people are bound to misunderstand the situation. They'll jump to the conclusion that lack of flag-waving means lack of feeling, that lack of words means lack of deeds. But they'll be as wrong as that poor woman who misinterpreted the vicar's remark, 'Ah, good morning Mrs. Brown,' he says, 'I see you're taking a tramp into the country.' 'A tramp indeed,' snaps Mrs. Brown. 'I'll have you know this is my husband!'"

Trumpet Call

London Free Press

Should the plans of Chancellor of the Exchequer Butler materialize and the British situation improve greatly within the next year Churchill might conceivably retire after the coronation, as has been suggested. But if another campaign is forced it is hard to imagine the old war-horse turning a deaf ear to the call of the trumpet.

Whatever he decides to do his position in British history is secure. He pulled the country together when it seemed that no man could. In a sense his post-war experience has been an anti-climax.

Redistribution Measure Goes Through Commons

OTTAWA, July 3 (CP).—Redistribution of membership in the Commons has been approved after a four-day debate, marked by opposition charges that the government was guilty of "barefaced gerrymandering."

The Commons completed consideration Wednesday of a bill increasing its representation to 265 from 262 and revising the boundaries of 125 constituencies. The redistribution bill will be called today for third and final reading. Debate will be limited to the principle of redistribution, without reference to the detailed changes. Then it goes to the Senate for discussion and later royal assent.

Before members adjourn on Thursday, Nov. 20, they still must pass estimates for a few departments. Adjournment originally was scheduled for June 28 last, but the debate on redistribution prolonged proceedings.

The decennial battle over the redistribution of seats in the Commons on the basis of census figures produced one of the most prolonged and, at times, most bitter debates of the session.

Progressive Conservative members charged that a committee, composed of a majority of Liberals, had redrawn the boundaries of constituencies in such a way as to make it difficult for some opposition members to be re-elected.

They fought unsuccessfully against changes in the constituencies of two prominent Progressive Conservatives—John Diefenbaker of Lake Centre in Saskatchewan and George Nowlan of Annapolis-Kings in Nova Scotia. Mr. Diefenbaker is a veteran member of the party and Mr. Nowlan is president of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada.

In all, eight amendments were proposed by the Progressive Conservatives to recommendations of the redistribution committee. The amendments were defeated by the Liberal majority.

Early in the debate, members defeated a Progressive Conservative motion to turn the work of redistribution over to an independent commission.

VICTORIA T.L.C. WILL NOT SEND DELEGATES TO WINNIPEG

No money will be spent by the Victoria Trades and Labor Council this year in sending delegates to the annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress to be held in Winnipeg in the fall, it was decided at a Wednesday night meeting of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council.

Instead the council will be represented by two delegates from affiliate unions. T. Gooderham, T.L.C. organizer and delegate from the Bakery Workers' Union, and Jack Oard of the Civic Employees' Association will be attending the convention in behalf of their own organizations and will be accredited by the council.

Delegate Roy Wooten reported that prior to the Winnipeg convention, city employees from all across Canada will meet in Winnipeg with a view to forming a nation-wide civic employees' union.

VANCOUVER, July 3 (CP).—Demands of Vancouver and Victoria photo-engravers for a wage increase was rejected Wednesday in a majority report of a conciliation board.

The engravers, members of the Photo-Engravers' Union (A.F.L.), demanded wage increases that would have increased salaries to $118.25 a week on day shift and to $128.25 on night shift.

They are employees of Cleland Kent, Tri-Graphic, Victoria Press.

Vancouver Engravers, which is a subsidiary of the Vancouver Sun, and the Vancouver Province.

Board chairman J. L. Harkley in the majority report said "evidence indicates the industry is in financial difficulty."

To add additional burdens would only serve to aggravate the present positions and result in unemployment," he added.

The union also demanded a 25-hour week, three weeks annual holiday and five days sick leave annually.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

VICTORIA'S SUNSHINE RECORD TO DATE, 1952—1,022.8 HOURS

SYNOPSIS: Skies were almost clear over the southern sections of the province Wednesday night, although reports of low cloud and drizzle painted a dull picture of the weather along the west coast of Vancouver Island and on the north coast.

A weak disturbance will move inland across the coast late this afternoon and in its wake cloudy skies and a few light showers are expected for coastal areas. The north coast will begin to clear by Friday evening.

The southern interior will enjoy warm sunshine today but some cloudiness is expected in western sections Friday.

REGIONAL FORECASTS VALID UNTIL MIDNIGHT FRIDAY

VICTORIA: Clouding over in the evening. Cloudy Friday with a few light showers in the morning. Little change in temperature. Light winds. Low tonight and high Friday, 56 and 65.

WEST COAST: Cloudy Friday. Occasional light drizzle today. Little change in temperature. Light winds. Low tonight and high Friday at Estevan Point, 56 and 65.

VANCOUVER AND GEORGIA STRAIT: Clouding over in the evening. Cloudy Friday with a few light showers during the morning. Cooler Friday. Light winds. Low tonight and high Friday at Vancouver airport, 55 and 64. Abbotsford, 50 and 63; Nanaimo, 55 and 65.

5 PRAIRIE ROUNDUP

Saskatchewan Vote Count Slow

REGINA, July 3 (CP).—The count of sworn ballots cast in Saskatchewan's June 11 general election Wednesday confirmed the election of A. Percy Brown, C.C.F., in Melville riding. Returns were not available from four other constituencies where the vote was close election night.

It appeared that the count of sworn ballots was taking more time than expected and would stretch into a second day in many of the province's 49 ridings.

Sworn votes include absentee ballots and votes cast within a constituency by persons away from their home polling district.

Returning officer Dan Senft of Melville said the addition of sworn ballots to the election night totals of unsworn ballots gave this count: Brown, C.C.F., 4,578; V. P. Deshay, Liberal, 4,408; L. E. Obenauer, Social Credit, 904.

Thus some 260 sworn ballots increased Mr. Brown's majority from 83 to 170.

Besides Melville, the four ridings where the election night result was exceptionally close are Gravelbourg and Redberry, where the C.C.F. led, and Wilkie and Arm River, where the Liberals were in front. Chief electoral officer J. M. Telford spent Wednesday in Unity, where Wilkie ballots were being tallied.

Currie escaped wearing prison garb.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., July 3 (CP).—A 20-year-old Scottish immigrant, George Currie, escaped Wednesday from the provincial jail here.

He broke a window in the boiler room where he was working, climbed through and escaped by running 100 yards to the open prison yard gate.

R.C.M.P. are patrolling all highways leading from the city and searching vehicles at the city limits.

Troop Crimes In Japan Hit

Canadian Held Responsible for 58 of 88 Crimes Alleged in Kure

TOKYO, July 3 (Reuters).—The influential newspaper Asahi today joined a stepped-up campaign against British Commonwealth troops in Japan, charging that men stationed at the former Japanese naval base of Kure were guilty of an increasing number of crimes against civilians.

Asahi, which has a circulation of 4,000,000, called on all foreigners in Japan to "act more like gentlemen," but singled out Canadian, British and Australian troops for particular criticism.

In an article entitled "Terror Reigns Over Kure," the paper claimed that "British Commonwealth troops are committing an increasing number of offenses, and what is still more serious, many of these offenses are the raping of Japanese women."

It quoted Mayor Jutsu Suzuki of Kure as saying that between April 28-June 25 Commonwealth troops in the Kure area had committed 88 crimes. He said Canadians were responsible for 58 of them.

The press campaign against Commonwealth troops is linked with Japanese efforts to whittle down their position in Japan now that occupation has been ended by the peace treaty.

ESSENTIAL FOR SUPPLIES

A spokesman for the Japanese foreign office said today that the Commonwealth couldn't expect to get the same preferential treatment as the United States, which has a mutual security agreement with Japan.

Britain wants to retain her position at Kure, claiming it is essential as a supply point for her Korean operations. This claim has been recognized by the Japanese government, but the exact status of Commonwealth troops still is unsettled.

They get none of the concessions granted Americans under their security treaty—exemption from customs duties, income tax and passport regulations, and facilities for ships and planes, as well as a financial contribution from the Japanese toward the upkeep of troops.

Foreign Minister Katsuo Okazaki said June 3 that Japan was under no obligation to pay the expenses of Commonwealth troops in the country.

Commonwealth spokesmen have denied the excesses attributed to their men by Japanese papers, and claim that the crime rate is far lower than that alleged by Mayor Suzuki.

WEARS SHORTS AS PROTEST

CHESAPEAKE, O., July 3 (AP).—Norman Parker figures he has as much right to show his legs as women have. So he's been wearing shorts day in and day out—since 1935.

The shorts are a protest, against the 45-year-old Parker, against "those darn infernal women who show their legs."

The tall, raw-boned non-conformist lives in the hills back of this Ohio River village with his 78-year-old mother in a weather-beaten frame house.

People have long been accustomed to Parker—and the shorts. A cold "spell" finds him donning an overcoat, gloves and a hat. But underneath it all, just the shorts.

Parker says he may give up wearing shorts when the women do, but—"don't look like they're going to, so I ain't either."

College Planning $5,000 Campaign

Plans for a campaign to raise $5,000 for books honoring past and present professors were outlined at a meeting of Victoria College 50th anniversary library committee Wednesday night.

Ex-students throughout the world will receive requests from the committee for help in the purchase of new books.

The collection will begin in September.

Canadian Soldier in Korea Draws Jail Term

By BILL BOSS
 Canadian Press Staff Writer
 KURE, Japan, July 3 (CP).—

Convicted of stealing 1,000,000 yen ($2,752) of the Canadian Army's money, Pte. J. E. M. Charrette of Montreal has been sentenced here to imprisonment for two years less one day.

Finding and sentence are subject to review.

Charrette is the man about whom the Commons defense committee was told May 8 when a tabulation of losses was placed before it by the army.

The soldier, a member of the Royal 22nd Regiment Company at the 25th Canadian Reinforcement Group Depot, was court martialed on charges of theft and absence without leave.

He pleaded innocent of theft and guilty of absence without leave.

Evidence was that last April 24, while Lieut. W. G. J. Nash of Ottawa and Toronto was exchanging military scrip currency for yen at a company pay parade, a soldier was seen to leave the tent in which the parade was being held, a large bundle of Japanese currency causing his blouse to sag.

The soldier's description was circulated among Commonwealth and Japanese police in the Kure area.

The trail led through a series of Japanese public houses to Charrette's arrest five days later.

GRANDDADDY NAMED TO FOURTH OLYMPIC TEAM

PITTSBURGH, July 3 (AP)—Most grandfathers would rather relax in a hammock under a shady tree than John H. Deni.

Deni is one of the United States' hopefuls in the 50,000-metre (about 31 miles) walk at the Olympic Games in Helsinki, Finland, this month.

This is the fourth time the 50-year-old Deni has been named. He was an alternate in 1932 and was named again in 1936. He was unable to make the trip either time.

His next opportunity came in 1948 at the games in London. He finished 12th but led the U.S. contingent.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

Victoria Shamrocks, with a great past behind them and a bright future ahead, face their most serious test of the Intercity Lacrosse League season during the next 30 days.

Loss of coach Arnold Ferguson will undoubtedly hurt the club more than is realized.

Though in the shadow of a great career, Ferguson is still the master tactician on the floor and only recently was coming back into his own after a slow start.

A brilliant star in the Rocks' first season in the Intercity League in 1950, Ferguson was rightly acclaimed the league's most valuable player for leading the unknown Irish into the league finals.

Last year, he was instrumental in securing the services of Archie Browning and Whitey Severson, two gentlemen in whom great faith has been placed for a Mann Cup victory this year.

With a bank balance to back up his words, Ferguson this year lured Jackie Northup into the fold, and the high-scoring forward has lived up to all expectations.

Overshadowed perhaps, in a playing way, by these brighter luminaries this year, Ferguson has, nevertheless, been the guiding hand behind the Rocks since their inception into the league.

He has asked no quarter and given none in return. That's the way he plays the game and that's the way he wants the Shamrocks to play the game.

"His injury on Saturday night at Nanaimo was not only of the unforeseen variety but it hit the Shamrocks the hardest where it hurts the most—on defense.

Red McMillan, the little gamecock who stole the hearts of boxers last year, was the first of the four originals on defense to be sidelined. His almost serious injury came in an auto accident.

Norm Coates was the next. He has been out of action for a fortnight but is expected back within the week.

Scoring Potential Will Be Missed

And now it's Ferguson. Only Len Scott of the original group remains.

However, Ferguson's loss will be deeply felt—it is feared, as his scoring potential was probably greater than that of the other two combined.

It has caused a complete reshuffling of the unit and the team will undoubtedly suffer temporarily as a result. Replacements will be necessary which should brighten the overall picture and give the Rocks a strong reserve nucleus from which to draw players.

This alone is a far cry from the early days when the Rocks had the barest minimum of talent, now time tested, which stood up admirably to the task.

Now they face a more serious problem and the league pennant hinges on the result. If the past is a precedent, the Rocks will come through with colors flying, for the Irish have, in the past, at least, proved they're at their best when the going is the roughest.

Wimbledon Fans Toast Flam, Even in Defeat

WIMBLEDON, England, July 3 (AP)—Herbie Flam, America's last court-bearer, fell in heart-breaking defeat before Jaroslav Drobny in a sensational five-set semifinal match that ended a five-year United States domination of the men's singles in the all-England lawn tennis championships.

A packed house of 13,000 fans gave Flam the greatest ovation an American has received on the famed Wimbledon centre court since Ted Schroeder won the tournament in 1949, cheering for fully 15 minutes as Flam and the veteran, self-exiled Czech walked to their dressing rooms.

After losing the first two sets to the 31-year-old Drobny, the younger from Beverly Hills, Calif., fought back in a stirring rally to square the match at 2-2. But Drobny outlasted his 23-year-old rival to win 6-2, 6-4, 0-6, 8-10, 6-4.

The victory put the bounding Czech into Friday's final for the second time in 10 years of trying. He will meet Frank Sedgman who ousted Mervyn Rose, 6-4, 6-7, 5, in a drab all-Australian match.

The United States has held the title since Jack Kramer won in 1947.

Drobny was magnificent, conquering not only a brilliant young tennis player, but also his own nerves, which time and again have cheated him of tennis glory.

Mathias Sets Decathlon Mark

TULARE, Calif., July 3 (AP)—Decathlon champion Bob Mathias set a world record of 7,825 points Wednesday night and with 18-year-old Milt Campbell and veteran Floyd Simmons, won berths on the United States Olympic decathlon team.

Mathias climaxed his greatest scoring spree with a tremendous javelin throw of 193 feet, 10 1/2 inches that set the record after nine events, and added to it in the 1,500-metre run which would up his two-night, 10-event grand total.

The javelin throw netted 713 points for 7,531 points, and the 1,500 metres added 294 to erase the 7,444 world mark now on the books.

Heino Lipp—Russia's Olympic Giant

By TOM WHITNEY (For Gayle Talbot)

MOSCOW, July 3 (AP)—Perhaps the most formidable Russian athlete to compete in the Olympic Games at Helsinki is Heino Lipp, a 224-pound giant Estonian from the shale mines.

He is a phenomenal man in size, looks and achievements.

He is six feet, three inches tall, incredibly long arms dangle close to his knees. Undoubtedly he is one of the most talented track and field stars in the world.

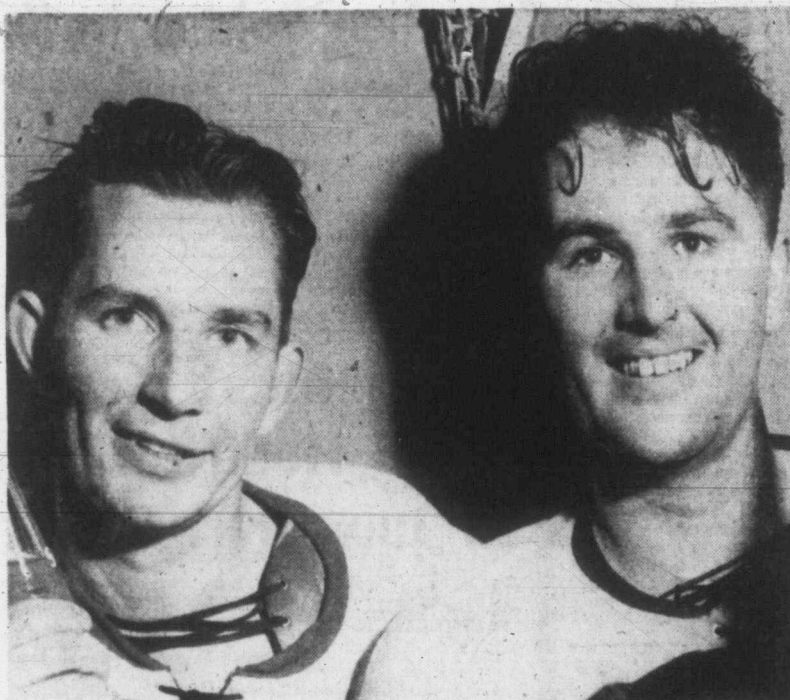

He is Europe's best shot put and holds the record of 55 feet, 7 1/2 inches. Jim Fuchs of the United States holds the world mark of 58 feet, 10 1/2 inches.

Lipp also is a star decathlon performer. He has the Soviet record in this all-around specialty with a score of 7,780 made in 1948. This is among the best half-dozen showings of all time but is below the world record of the U.S. Bob Mathias—8,012 points.

For the Estonian to do his best in the decathlon he has to take off weight. That handicaps him in his real specialty, the shot. So at Helsinki he likely will pass up the decathlon and concentrate on the shot.

Lipp is 28 and didn't enter athletics until after the war. That was when his brother,

PHILLIES ON THE MOVE

Sawyer Puts 'Whiz' Back in 'Whiz Kids'

Fatherly Steve O'Neill has discarded Eddie Sawyer's austerity program and replaced it with a more popular plan that appears to be putting new life into Philadelphia's awakening "Whiz Kids."

Under his guidance, the Phillies have been taking the curse off their early-season reputation as the biggest disappointment of the year.

Since the 61-year-old O'Neill took over as Philadelphia manager last Saturday, the Phils have won four of six from Brooklyn and New York, the top two clubs in the National League. That's .667 baseball. Under Sawyer, the Phils won 28 and lost 35 for a .444 percentage.

Steve refuses to take the credit, but in his first meeting with his new team he told the players all of Sawyer's austerity program except the curfew was out. There was to be a midnight and 2 a.m. deadline for day and night games but the players could have cars, cards, wives, golf clubs and swim suits with them.

Brilliant pitching by Robin Roberts and Russ Meyer plus timely hitting by outfielders Bill Nicholson and Mel Carke gave the Phils a sweep of their doubleheader with Brooklyn, 5-3 and 2-1, and three wins in the four-game series.

The double defeat cut the Dodgers' first place margin to three games over the Giants who lost a grand opportunity to pick up more ground by dropping a 2-1 decision to Boston Braves.

Cleveland Indians picked up a four game lead over the New York Yankees, taking their second straight overtime tilt from the Browns, 3-2, while Boston Red Sox were beating the champions 5-4. Chicago White Sox nipped Detroit, 3-2, and Philadelphia's Athletics dropped Washington into fifth place with a 4-1 victory over the Senators.

Four games separate the first five clubs in the American League. The second-place Indians are three games off the pace, a half game in front of Boston and Chicago and a game ahead of Washington.

Chicago Cubs solidified their hold on third place in the National, pasting a pair of defeats upon Pittsburgh, 8-3 and 3-0.

Harry Breechen pitched St. Louis Cardinals to a 3-0 victory over Cincinnati Reds for their 12th victory in the last 16 games. Enos Slaughter continued his batting rampage, driving in all St. Louis runs in the eighth with a bases-loaded double off loser Herman Wehmeier.

A home run by pinch-hitter Nicholson following a walk to Connie Ryan in the eighth gave the Phils the nightcap win after Roberts had registered his 11th victory with a six-hitter in the opener.

Esquimalt Nears Senior Playoff Spot

Esquimalt Athletic Association moved to within one game of the fourth playoff spot in the Senior B Football League standings Wednesday night by thumping Esquimalt Merchants 21-4.

The winners exploded for 18 hits and scored in all but two innings against the pitching of Ray Ramsay and his reliever Bill Hatcher.

Left fielder Jack Smith of E.A.A. topped the clouters by collecting a double, triple and home run, while Gordie Ball had two singles and a double in four tries.

Al Majorik limited Merchants to six hits and pitched shutout ball for the last five innings.

Stan Stays Home, So Should Tribe

Rocks Rout Indians to Regain Lead

BY DENNY BOYD
Shamrocks 23, Indians 11

With beetle-browed Stan Joseph in goal, the P.N.E. Indians are a lacrosse team to be reckoned with.

Without Joseph in goal, with his unorthodox back-handed stick manipulation, the Indians are little more than a pleasant group of fellows with whom to pass the time of day in idle chit-chat.

Without Joseph the Indians, as a lacrosse team, rate zero.

The point was well taken at Memorial Arena Wednesday night as a slimmer-than-usual crowd suffered with spare goalie Bud Peterson as the Rocks stomped all over Clary Jenion's tribe to the tune of 23-11.

REGAIN LEAD

The victory once again gave the Rocks sole possession of first place by the margin of two points over New Westminster and Vancouver.

Joseph failed to turn up when the Indians left Vancouver and Jenion was forced to insert rookie Peterson in his place.

Peterson suffered the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune and was forced to put up with a defense that filed separation papers after the first quarter.

ROCKS RILED

The Shamrocks, anxious to atone to Victoria fans for the humiliating defeat they suffered Saturday night at the hands of the Nanaimo Native Sons, spared Peterson no discomfort as their well-gearred attack clicked on all cylinders and poured out points like a well-tended machine.

The first quarter was as close as any quarter has been in Victoria this year. Whitey Severson scored for Shamrocks with a loop-the-loop overhead shot on the first play from scrimmage but Mel Jones tied it up on a pass from bruising Cy Anderson.

Tommy Druce from Sevenson recovered the Irish lead but Jones scored his second of four goals to make it read 2-2 at quarter-time.

Peterson was pelted with shots in the second-quarter and had to fish out nine, the Shamrocks enjoying an 11-4 lead at the half.

It was little different in the second half, the Shamrocks throwing everything but their gloves at the unfortunate netminder who, in spite of the horrendous score, made some pretty saves to keep the score within the bounds of reason.

POTENTIAL FALS ROMP

The Archie Browning-Larry Booth - Whitey Severson line that manager Ralph Baker once called "potentially the highest scoring unit in Canada," lived up to the press notices by amassing a three-man total of 21 points.

Severson was a terror to the Indian club, ripping in three goals and adding six assists to his already league-leading total to take over from Jack Northup as the top scorer of the league.

In spite of a badly bruised arm, Jim Hetherington was his usualy calm self in the Rock net, stopping 22 of 33 shots.

Point Winners

TORONTO, July 3 (CP)—The coach of two girls who were dropped from Canada's Olympic team says he has statistics to prove both would have been likely point-winners at Helsinki this summer.

Shot-putter Mary Lawrence of Toronto and discus-thrower Jo Brennan of Hamilton, both of whom broke long-standing Canadian records in their events at the Olympic trials in Hamilton last week-end, were passed over by the Olympic selection committee, which claimed they wouldn't do well against European competition.

Percival said Miss Lawrence's heave of 40 feet 3 1/2 inches at Hamilton — he claims she's done better in practice sessions — would have placed her seventh in London in 1948 and ranks her in the same position against Europe's current best.

Miss Brennan is reputed to have achieved a discus mark of 137 feet, six inches in workouts — only half an inch short of the performance of the 1948 winner.

TYEE BOOSTERS PLAN MAINLAND INVASION

The Athletic Booster Club is arranging a special "baseball invasion" of Vancouver July 12, when the Victoria Tyees play Vancouver Capilanos in a night doubleheader at Capilano Stadium.

Reduced fares will be available to all baseball fans whether they are Booster Club members or not.

The special rate includes return boat fare to Vancouver, bus transportation to and from the stadium and admission to both games. A special price is available to children.

Sixteen-day stopover privileges are available. Tickets are now on sale at radio station CKDA in the Douglas Hotel.

TYEES AGAIN SPLIT

Lorino Victor, Wisneski Loser

Victoria 16, 1; Wenatchee 7, 5

By BILL WALKER

Ben Lorino won his 13th game of the season at Athletic Park Wednesday night, but Bill Wisneski couldn't put the cat out and the Tyees split a doubleheader with Wenatchee Chiefs.

Briefly that explains what took five long hours to unfold, the Tyees winning the regulation opener, 16-7, but losing the abbreviated second game, 5-1.

Lorino and Charles Oubre, two of the W.I.L.'s leading pitchers, matched heart and little else for five innings of the opener before Oubre called it a night and left for more pleasant quarters with the Tyees leading 9-7.

Bud Bauhofer took up the Wenatchee burden, but he, too, found the mound a dangerous haven and retired under fire in the seventh after giving up three runs, mainly to Chuck Abernathy's Bill Stites, winner of Tuesday's 3-1 game against the Tyees, came on, but he had left his stuff in the dugout and was victimized for the final four runs in the eighth.

Four Chief errors didn't assist him in any way.

Meanwhile, Lorino survived a shelling that took place in the first, third and fifth innings after which he lowered the blinds.

The Chiefs took Ben to task for three hits and one run in the first, unleashed a four-hit barrage in the third for three runs and duplicated the performance in the fifth at which time the Tyees were leading 8-7, thanks mainly to Chuck Abernathy's grand slam home run in the first inning.

Lorino Had a Busy Evening

Lorino gave up but one hit the rest of the way while the Tyees consolidated their position at the expense of Bauhofer and Stites, who could find no answer to six Wenatchee errors.

Everyone but Granny Gladstone, who was forced to retire before the start of the second game because of an injured elbow — he was hit by a pitched ball Tuesday — contributed to the 12-11 attack. The Chiefs got 12, Lyle Palmer and Ben Guerrero setting the pattern with three.

Lorino was out on the hill again before the night ended, but his five-inning relief chore in the second game, during which time he gave up one run, was wasted.

Wisneski, the starter, was in more trouble than the corresponding spectators... for a scouting trip of the W.I.L.

TORONTO, July 3 (CP)—The coach of two girls who were dropped from Canada's Olympic team says he has statistics to prove both would have been likely point-winners at Helsinki this summer.

Shot-putter Mary Lawrence of Toronto and discus-thrower Jo Brennan of Hamilton, both of whom broke long-standing Canadian records in their events at the Olympic trials in Hamilton last week-end, were passed over by the Olympic selection committee, which claimed they wouldn't do well against European competition.

Percival said Miss Lawrence's heave of 40 feet 3 1/2 inches at Hamilton — he claims she's done better in practice sessions — would have placed her seventh in London in 1948 and ranks her in the same position against Europe's current best.

Miss Brennan is reputed to have achieved a discus mark of 137 feet, six inches in workouts — only half an inch short of the performance of the 1948 winner.

N.H.L. Rejects Barons

Borrowed Money Not Satisfactory

TORONTO, July 3 (CP).—Borrowed money won't buy a franchise into the six-team National Hockey League.

That was evident Wednesday when the big-league owners considered Cleveland Barons' bid for a berth under the big tent—for the third time—and politely turned thumbs down on the idea. They termed Cleveland's financial set-up unsound and, in effect, told Barons officials to try again.

The Barons haven't a hope of advancing into the N.H.L. for the 1952-53 season but the gate has been left open for them to make another try and, in all probability, crash the select six in the 1953-54 campaign.

The stumbling block to the whole thing was an interpretation of what is considered working capital.

The Barons, told May 14 that they could advance into the N.H.L. if they raised $418,000, an arbitrary figure set by N.H.L. owners, raised the necessary money by loans from stockholders, repayable in two years: At Wednesday's five-hour closed meeting the Barons were told the financing was unsound.

SLIGHT CONFUSION

"If they said in the first place that we couldn't borrow the money we wouldn't have done so," said general manager Jim Hendy of the Cleveland Arena.

"They knew we were borrowing it and now they say they don't believe it's the best way. Yet, no place in the original motion—presented at the May meeting when the N.H.L. issued terms of admittance—did it say how the money was to be raised."

Conditions of entry, as laid down at the May meeting, called on Cleveland for a $50,000 franchise fee, $57,500 for the league reserve fund and working capital of $318,000 to be earmarked for hockey and not to be used for any other purpose.

Cleveland raised the necessary amount and was all set to make the N.H.L. circuit a seven-team league next season but the major leaguers voted otherwise.

"There was a uniform declaration by every club in the league that they wanted Cleveland in as a partner, but on a workable basis," N.H.L. president Clarence Campbell told reporters after the meeting.

Fairfield Enters Final Of Juvenile Playdowns

Past records mean little to players in the juvenile division of the Victoria Amateur Baseball Association.

Fairfield proved that when they defeated Stewart "No-Hit" Stout of Saanich, 6-4 in the juvenile semi-finals Wednesday night at Macdonald Park.

Stella Walsh Ruled Out Of Olympics

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 3 (AP).—Stella Walsh, a top track and field star, was ruled out of the Olympics Wednesday.

Harry Hayworth, official of the National Amateur Athletic Union, said: "Stella automatically barred herself by previous competition for another country."

Miss Walsh, holder of 65 world and national track and field records, competed for Poland in the 1932 and 1936 Olympic Games.

"I'm an American citizen now and Poland is no longer a state," Miss Walsh commented. "It's recognized as an overrun country. It's a satellite of Russia."

SCHUSTER AT ODDS WITH BROWN AS CAPS CURDLE

A top-brass dispute which has simmered since early May has broken out in the Vancouver Capilanos' tepee, and reports indicate a shakeup will take place in the Western International League club.

General manager Bob Brown expressed dissatisfaction with the managing of field boss Bill Schuster after the Caps lost a doubleheader to Yakima Tuesday.

Schuster said he should return to action, but Brown said no. Brown claimed the team is Vancouver's best since the war, but the players do not seem to be pulling together and should be doing better.

The skidding Caps lost their fifth straight Wednesday night as the cellar-dwelling Yakima club whipped them 6-4.

Button Fish Taken In Weekly Ladder Derby

Including a two-year record and; Midlane, third; Lou Poy, fourth; and Shaw, fifth. Harry Palmer weighed in a 1½-pound grilse to win the $5 scrip hidden-weight prize.

All those who hold a place on the weekly ladders qualify for a fish-off berth. Salmon, as low as five pounds qualified in this year's Saanich Inlet than in 1951," said George Douglas, secretary of the derby-sponsoring Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association.

Work Point Barracks' Capt. J. K. Ewing took the week's biggest, the gold-button winner. Bill Barnes was second with a 26½-pounder, and Arthur Midlane reeled in a 25½-pounder. Fourth biggest was a specimen going 25½ pounds caught by Henry Lou Poy. Frank Shaw was next with a 24-pounder. Other bronze-button-size salmon were caught by H. Phillips, 23½ pounds; Roy English, 21 pounds, and H. Harrison, 20½ pounds.

Having previously qualified for the final fish-off in the derby, Capt. Ewing, Midlane and Frank Shaw shot for weekly prizes.

Weekly scrip-prize winners were: Ewing, first; Barnes, sec-

Diaper Teams Draw

In the preliminary to Wednesday's Shamrock-Indian lacrosse game at Memorial Arena, Stubbs and Tigers of the diaper league battled to a 5-5 draw.

Tom Wyatt and Don Craigdall netted two goals each for Tigers while Bill Carlow had two for Stubbs.

VICTORIA CLUB GOLF

Silver division honors in Monday's monthly par competition at Victoria Golf Club went to Mrs. V. S. Godfrey, two down. Mrs. C. H. Willis won the bronze division, one down.

SOCCER SEASON ENDS

United Meets North Shore

A year of hard work comes to a climax Saturday for Victoria United when they meet North Shore Reds in the deciding game for the Coast Soccer League crown.

Win or lose, this will be the last game of the season for United and they are determined to add the league championship to their trophy case.

The best of three championship is tied one game each, one game having been tied.

United dropped the series opener 2-1 to North Shore at Callister Park but prolonged the series by battling to a 2-2 draw in Victoria. The local side came back strongly to take the third game 5-2 on the Mainland.

NO LINE-UP CHANGE

United will work out tonight but manager George Eade stated this morning that he contemplated no line-up changes.

Bill McAllister will be in goal with Joe Robbins and Bill Hope at fullback spots and Sid Robbins pivoting Jackie Robbins and John Pickburn on the half-back line.

Wally Milligan will be at centre forward and will have Stan Bob and Den McGee as insides with Bernie Clarkson and Cedric Robb on the wings.

Spare will be Noel Morgan, Jack Strachan and Frank Lohner.

Game time Saturday at Macdonald Park is 3.

Takes Title

Cecil Branson downed Gary Corbett, 6-0, 7-5 Tuesday to win the boy's under 18 singles championship in the Junior Centre Tennis Tournament at Victoria Lawn Tennis Club.

Stephen Queale won the boys' under 15 title with a 6-4, 6-0 conquest of Gordon Bean and Susan Butt captured the girls' under 15 singles crown with a 6-4, 6-0 victory over Barbara Wollison.

Susan Butt and Donna Burridge beat Barbara Savale and Elaine Mitchell 6-2, 6-1 to win the girls' 15 and under doubles championship.

Greenkeepers To Compete At Vancouver

Victoria will be defending champions of the I. D. Patallo Trophy in the intercity golf match, between the Victoria Greenkeepers Association and the B.C. Greenkeepers Association at University Golf Course, Vancouver, Monday.

The Victoria team will leave Pat Bay airport Monday morning at 7, Standard Time.

TORGESON FINED, REQUESTED TO APOLOGIZE

BOSTON, July 3 (AP).—Boston Braves' rightfielder Earl Torgeson drew a fine of $100 Wednesday for his clash in Tuesday night's game with New York Giants' catcher Sal Yvars.

Yvars drew a $25 fine for his part in the conflict.

The fines were levied by National League president Warren C. Giles.

Besides the fines, Giles suggested that Torgeson, who slugged Yvars in the Giants' dugout after the catcher had broken his bat, apologize to Yvars. Before the bat breaking, Yvars had complained that Torgeson was hitting him on the shins with the backswing of his bat.

Canadians Beaten In Henley Double Sculls

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England, July 3 (CP).—Canada's Olympic oarsmen, J. Derek Riley and R. H. Williams, were eliminated today in the opening heat of the double sculls event of the Royal Henley Regatta.

The Canadians, representing the Winnipeg Rowing Club, were defeated by the crack Australian pair, John Rodgers and M. Elley, in seven minutes, 50 seconds. The winners breezed past the post with a margin of about a length to spare over the Canadians, who were manning a borrowed shell.

Cheered by a large crowd, the two crews set off in a thunder storm over the straight, boomed course of one mile, 550 yards, 400 yards longer than the normal distance in Canada. The record time for the event of seven minutes, 27 seconds, was set in 1949 by a Danish team.

After the race the boys admitted they had steered their craft rather badly and while giving full credit to the victors thought they would have felt more comfortable with their own oars.

Wednesday, Bill Blue of Ottawa, a medical student at London Hospital, was defeated by a length in a first-round heat of the diamond sculls competition. He two bowed to A. Beveridge of the storm over the straight, boomed Tyne Boat Club.

Ahead—the Nicest Miles in the World!

Well, the day has come! You have your beautiful Golden Anniversary Cadillac—and are off on that cross-country journey you've so eagerly awaited.

You're full of hope and anticipation—but almost afraid it's too good to be true. Can any car perform and handle the way people say this one does?

You come to the end of the street that opens into the crosstown thoroughfare—and the big, easy-acting brakes settle you down to the softest, smoothest stop you ever experienced in all your life.

You touch the throttle, and the great engine starts you out like the flight of an arrow—smoothly and swiftly and quietly.

Almost before you know it, a light turns red—and, once again, that easy, velvety stop. And then the green—and again that swift, eager move into action.

Stop and go—red and green... and pretty soon it dawns upon you that you never dreamed of driving a car that handled and performed like this.

Wonderful in city traffic—no doubt about it!

And then the cars thin out about you—the traffic lights stretch farther and farther apart—and you find yourself on the open road.

Instinctively, your foot goes down on the throttle; but, quickly, it eases up again. For you find yourself really rolling in a couple of hundred feet! So you do a little experimenting until you find the spot where the accelerator belongs for sane and sensible driving—and then you settle back and relax.

You scarcely seem to be moving at all. You handle the wheel with the weight of your hand. You're comfortable—resting—at peace with the highway! The sun rises higher and the road beckons on.

"Where did we plan on stopping tonight?"

"Better take a look at the map and see what's on down the line. We're going to get a lot farther than I ever dreamed we could!"

Yes, it's true what they say about Cadillac. Better come in and see it—and drive it—while you're in the mood!

Living-Cost Slump, Trend Believed Over

Higher Seasonal Prices for Food Plus Stiffer Rents Seen Reason

OTTAWA, July 3 (CP).—The big plunge in the cost-of-living index may be just about over.

Higher seasonal prices for some foodstuffs plus a stiffening in the cost of rent may push the prices barometer higher for the first time since last December.

POPE ENJOYS BIRD, NOT FOX

VATICAN CITY, July 3 (AP).—The Pope lets a pet goldfinch fly freely about his Vatican apartment but he has decided an eagle and a fox are not exactly household pets.

Shepherds in south Italy presented the eagle and the fox to the Pontiff as symbols of the difficulties of their work and the danger of their flocks from rapacious animals.

The Pontiff expressed thanks and sent the pair to the Rome zoo.

ALASKAN CAPITAL

Juneau, capital of Alaska, is a large mining centre and exports gold, furs and curios.

During April, the consumer price level was shoved back to where it was during May and June a year ago when the index ranged between 184.1 and 187.6. In the first four months of 1952, prices tumbled more than twice as quickly as they had increased in the previous seven months.

MAIN FACTOR

The main factor in recent living-cost reductions was the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in western Canada which pushed meat prices down. The meat price structure now has become more stable, following federal action to buy up and dispose of surpluses in the United Kingdom.

Here, in a nutshell, is how each segment of the prices barometer fared during April:

The food sub-group declined to 235.3 from 240.2, down sharply from the peak of 251.4 in July, 1951, with prices lower for beef, butter, bacon, veal, lamb, shortening and oranges. These out-weighted increases for fresh vegetables, including potatoes.

Fuel and light slipped to 150.6 from the high of 152.5 during March.

AIRFIELD FARMS

OSLO (CP).—Norwegian government officials have worked out detailed plans for farm cultivation of all airfields between runways and buildings. At the new airfield at Rygge, 900 feet of the total 1,200-foot width will be brought under the plow. All new airfields are being built with an eye to increasing grain production.

Duncan Honors New Lumber Queen

ISLAND DIGEST

DUNCAN, July 3.—Luxury sales have fallen off due to the woodworkers' strike that has 5,000 men in the district out of work, and dry cleaners expect a 20 per cent drop in business. Clothing sales are low. Food buying has remained steady.

Turnover of home building materials and tools has increased as unemployed workers spend their time modernizing their homes.

LADYSMITH, July 3.—Loggers' Queen Maureen Davis was crowned on the city hall steps July 1 to start the city's celebration of Dominion Day. A parade was held in the afternoon, followed by loggers' sports and track and field events for children.

ALBERNI, July 3.—Orville Alexander Coss, 18, has been sentenced to one year's imprisonment for breaking and entering. According to evidence, he was arrested minutes after a city meat market had been entered.

K. A. McKenzie, a logging operator, was fined $25 for failing to fall snags prior to operating a logging unit, an infraction of the Forest Act.

QUALICUM BEACH, July 3.—Qualicum Beach and Parksville District Canadian Club has elected the following officers: J. M. Utteridge, president; E. Rushton, first vice-president; Mrs. M. A. Osborne, second vice-president; Miss M. L. Moffitt, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. M. Sutherland, Mrs. F. W. Riddell, Mrs. R. Elliot, Mrs. Jack Dougan, J. Ross Hind and A. Cottrell, directors.

NANAIMO, July 3.—Harry Paulson, Yellow Point, shot and killed a cougar on a neighbor's farm after it had been treed—apparently by three cows and a small dog. Paulson found the three cows and the little dog grouped around the tree glaring at the bewildered predator. He could only assume they had done the job.

SIDNEY, July 3.—Nine North Saanich High School girls will compete for the title of Queen of Sidney Day, July 16, to be sponsored by H.M.S. Endeavor Chapter, I.O.D.E. Contestants are Yvonne Bradley, Shirley Bath, Sylvia Erb, Doreen Gordon, Thelma Jahn, Marjorie McCruish, Nancy Shillito, Yateve Swift and Gail Smith.

British Press Critical Of Alexander's Action

LONDON, July 3 (CP).—Earl Alexander, Britain's defense minister, today was the subject of critical comment in most British newspapers.

Editorial writers, even on papers which seldom take party sides, used words like "gaffe" and "indiscretion" in referring to Alexander's Tuesday night speech to the Canada Club.

In the speech, Alexander discussed United Nations reserves in Korea, but asked this reference should be treated as a matter of secrecy. Wednesday, in an excited House of Commons debate, Prime Minister Winston Churchill defended the man he recalled from Canada, to appoint as his defense minister, but admitted that Lord Alexander's statement had been "undoubtedly unfortunate."

The main theme of press comment today is that Alexander erred in giving off-the-record information at a dinner after passing up an earlier opportunity to disclose it in parliament.

"What will astonish people most about Lord Alexander's gaffe," says The Liberal News Chronicle, "is that it was made by a man with a lifelong reputation for discretion."

"During the war, Lord Alexander was regarded as a model of wise reticence... afterwards he served with distinction as Governor-General of Canada, a nation whose politics are full of pitfalls for the unwary."

The Independent Liberal Manchester Guardian said the speech was "an embarrassment to his hosts, to Canada House and to Mr. Churchill."

The right-wing Daily Mail, normally vociferous in support of the conservative government, said in a column-length, front-page editorial that Lord Alexander had made an "unfortunate indiscretion."

"...It was a mistake to disclose to an outside gathering information about the reserves in Korea which he had kept from the Lords," said The Daily Mail. "He certainly asked that the matter should be treated as confidential. It was a further mistake, however, to imagine that this could be done in such a large company."

Municipal Union Reviewing Board Award to Police

Saanich Municipal Employees' Association is expected to meet early next week for discussion of an arbitration board award to the police department.

It is learned that an executive recommendation will be placed before the meeting.

The award was for pay increases—accepted by the municipality—and for abolition of leggings and for service star pay—which was rejected by the Saanich police commission.

English tailors view with alarm a tendency on the part of British representatives in tropic countries to appear in shirt-sleeves.

The Empire, they say, cannot stand up under such shattering of tradition. I can only hope that the tropical Britisher will never go so far as to discard his pith helmet. That would be an awful pity.

Duncan Davies, 612 Bryden Court, felt that he would like to be alone the other afternoon, so he went for a walk, all by himself.

However, being two years old and basically a friendly fellow, he soon tired of his own company and looked about him for companionship.

He spied a long, black, shining limousine parked at the curb, tottered over, and knocked politely on the door.

The smartly-uniformed chauffeur hopped out of the car, opened the rear door, and a very gracious lady in the back seat invited Duncan in.

The lady admired Duncan's toy truck, and he gravely described to her its various mechanical features.

A few minutes later, Mrs. Davies spied her son, and apologized for any trouble he might have caused.

But the lady in the car said she was very happy to have entertained Duncan, and had found the conversation most stimulating.

Which, I suspect, is more than can be said of many of the formal conversations which are a part of the duties of Mrs. Clarence Wallace, wife of B.C.'s Lieutenant-Governor.

Side note to J. P. Thornton, 943 Wilmer Street: Thank you for your offer to be the first customer for my advice-giving business.

The trouble is, you have too many troubles. My advice to you is, get yourself some simple-type troubles so I can break into this business gradually.

Don Wilson has a habit of creeping into Between Times with some regularity. I guess it is because there is so much of him, he can spread himself around.

This tale concerns Don and a fishing expedition last weekend, in the Mill Bay area.

Don fished unsuccessfully with artificial lures, then decided to try sea worms.

He collected a healthy looking specimen, and attempted to thread him on a hook.

The worm resisted this, for some reason, and turned upon all 300 pounds of Mr. Wilson, attacking him ferociously, and biting him severely.

It was a short, uneven struggle, and the worm won. Don dropped him back in the water and decided to try some less dangerous sport than fishing.

"At least," says Don, "although I didn't catch any fish, you can't deny that I got a bite."

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

It was announced at the monthly directors' meeting that Navy-civ (Dockyard) Credit Union passed the $250,000 mark in savings of its 1,100 members and that savings of 240 credit unions in B.C. is now $16,000,000.

Medium damage resulted Wednesday afternoon from a collision at Port and Blanshard between cars driven by Frederick W. Webb, 1017 Craigdarroch, and John L. Harris, 1134 Rockland. Neither driver was injured.

Only $855 is needed to put the Salvation Army's appeal for $30,000 over the top, army officials have announced here.

Those in charge of the drive are confident the amount still to be collected will be raised within the next few days. The campaign is scheduled to end this week.

Colwood Community Club will hold a beach party on Saturday, July 5, at Esquimalt Lagoon. Anyone wishing transportation must be at the Colwood Hall at 5 p.m. Everyone in the district is invited to bring their own supper or wieners-roast and have a good time. Coffee will be provided by the community club.

Roses in every hue of the rainbow are at their peak in Beacon Hill Park.

The popular "rose garden" features new varieties seen for the first time this year, according to parks administrator W. H. Warren.

They include the English varieties, Mrs. Edward Laxton and Elizabeth Wheatcroft; the French varieties, Marcel Grev and Charles Mallerin; Lady Trent from Spain, and Sutter's Gold from the U.S.

Willows Park Site Ready For Home Building Soon

Owners of property in Oak Bay's Carnarvon Park subdivision will likely be able to obtain permits and proceed with home building after November 1.

This was revealed today by Municipal Engineer A. S. G. Musgrave who said it was anticipated installation of all necessary underground services through the new residential area would be completed during the next four months.

The Carnarvon Park area takes in the old Willows exhibition grounds and race track.

Midland Construction Company is installing sewers in the area at a contract price of $22,000. The municipality is responsible for installation of six and eight-inch water mains throughout Carnarvon Park and Hudson's Bay land to the north, which will link in with the new 20-inch main being installed on Lansdowne Road, from Foul Bay to Nottingham.

It is the municipality's policy to install all underground services one year and pave the streets the next.

Main road through Carnarvon Park will be Eastdowne, which will extend from Lansdowne Road, through to Cadboro Bay Road. At the south end, Eastdowne will be what was formerly Willows Road, the street leading to the main gate of the old Willows Fair Ground.

ANNOUNCEMENT EXPECTED SOON ON ROYAL VISIT TO AUSTRALIA

CANBERRA, Australia, July 3 (BUP).—Federal ministers expected today that Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip would visit Australia in March and April, 1954.

The ministers said an announcement setting the date would be made very soon by Buckingham Palace spokesmen. Their hint that the tour date would be set possibly in a few days followed Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies' statement to reporters Wednesday that plans for the twice-postponed royal tour were almost complete.

Some ministers hoped the tour would be made sooner than March or April, 1954, because that time could clash with general election campaigning. The House of Representatives is due for an election before June of that year.

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, JULY 3 1952

Union Carries Majority Vote

Conciliation Board Urges Increase of 27 Cents Per Hour to Tradesmen

A 27-cent-an-hour wage increase has been recommended for Victoria electricians in a majority report of a three-man conciliation board.

The increase would bring pay for journeymen electricians here to $2.15 an hour. The present rate is $1.88.

The board sat recently to consider the negotiation stalemate between the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 230, and 17 electrical firms in this area.

Dr. Stuart Jamieson, of Vancouver, board chairman; and D. S. Bushell, for the union, signed the majority report.

In addition to the 27-cent-an-hour raise they recommended employers allow their workers an amount equivalent to 3 per cent of gross earnings as holiday pay. The present holiday is worked out on a 2½-per-cent basis. They suggested, as well, that travel allowances should be raised from the present 8 cents a mile to 10 cents.

E. H. Emery, who sat on the board as representative of the electrical contractors, recommended a 12-cent-an-hour wage increase, to bring journeymen's pay to an even $2.

CHARGES MADE

Meanwhile, a charge that employers across Canada had adopted a hold-the-line-against-labor policy was made before the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council Wednesday night by Ernest Oliver of the Carpenters' Union.

He said all unionists would have to unite to buck employer opposition to granting wage increases.

"This may be the last year we get a chance for an increase in wages," he said. "Every trade union must back every union now on strike."

He revealed agreement had been reached between executives of the striking painter and carpenter unions here that one union would not return to work without the other. He said this was to assure a settlement satisfactory to both trade groups.

MASS MEETING

The labor council voted to sponsor a mass gathering of all union people in Victoria to discuss the alleged joint action by employers to foil current wage requests. A committee of the council was authorized to hire a suitable hall for the meeting.

There were no new developments in the strike picture here today. In Vancouver, however, the International Woodworkers of America indicated it will seek legal action to counteract injunctions arising from its 18-day-old strike.

Similar action already is being considered against contractors for their alleged lockout in the carpenters' strike. The action in this matter is proposed by the T.L.C. Building and General Laborers' Union.

The lumber strike has had a considerable effect on activity at Port Alberni.

SHIPPING CEASES

Only nine cargoes cleared the usually busy port during the month of June.

No ships in the lumber trade have cleared since June 21 when the I.W.A. threw a picket line around the dock. Longshoremen recognized the picket and refused to load cargoes of lumber.

Elsewhere on the island, at Courtenay, the local office of the National Employment Service advises that current disputes in the logging and construction trades have seriously curtailed activity there in the last month.

Job opportunities have dropped off considerably and a steady build-up of unemployed is reported.

Funeral services for Mrs. Gladys McGee, president of the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers' Association, will be held from McCall Bros' funeral parlor Saturday at 3.

Mrs. Militta Wood, vice-president of the association, today praised Mrs. McGee's untiring work on behalf of the organization. Mrs. McGee had owned the Buccleugh Kennels of German shepherds and cocker spaniels since 1931.

As a member of the W.S. Corps Hospital Auxiliary, Canadian Red Cross Corps, Mrs. McGee received a citation and badge for her work last year.

Provincial and federal governments should get no special tax concessions from municipalities, it was agreed.

Non-payment of taxes by federal and provincial governments on property within municipal boundaries has long been protested by cities and towns across Canada, but especially by Victoria.

Victoria, and Esquimalt particularly, have a heavy proportion of tax-free lands. Neither city nor municipality feels the grant made in lieu of taxes is sufficient compensation.

At the same session the Victoria resolution aimed at ending federal 10 per cent taxes on signs and other equipment made in municipal-operated workshops for use within the municipalities was passed.

Word to this effect was received from Mayor C. L. Harrison by the Times today.

VARIETY IN ART

Talent Drawn From Island Contributors

BY AUDEY ST. D. JOHNSON

From all over Greater Victoria—and from many parts of Vancouver Island, too—have come the paintings, oils, water colors, pastels, large and small, which comprise the first non-jury show to be held in the Moss Street Arts Centre.

Here is plenty of rich color to catch the eye, a versatility of subject matter to appeal to all tastes; familiar scenes treated traditionally; imaginative work; modern, plastic and non-representational treatments.

The exhibition was formally opened Wednesday night by Miss Margaret Clay, chief librarian of the Victoria Public Library. Miss Clay, introduced by Ronald Grant, president of the Arts Centre, spoke of the value of Miss Sara Spencer's gift to the city and the several ways in which it could serve the community. One of the most important of these, she felt, was in such an exhibition as this present.

For the first time, two new rooms upstairs are utilized. The 111 artists and their 192 paintings take up all the main floor galleries and the mezzanine as well. A circumstance which, in itself, testifies to the impetus given artistic expression by the centre.

It was heartening, too, to realize the tremendous improvement in standard compared to the last non-jury show, held at the Broughton Street gallery. There is, of course, an inevitable, and indeed, desirable, unevenness.

Desirable, because such an exhibition should include the amateur, the neophyte, the primitive, as well as the serious student at any phase of development.

Among the experienced artists I noted some fine work by Constance Bonner, D. de T. Cunningham, the Gowards, Owen and Elizabeth, D. R. de Kergomarcus, Isabel Hogg, Marion Stavrakov and Patience Birley. I was impressed, too, by the character and freedom of a water color sketch by Asdes Peyto and a charmingly sensitive, color-restricted garden impression by Unity Baile.

SUBTLE HUMOR

A vigorous and stimulating group includes two pastels labelled "Plastic Experiment" by Willi Rogers, "Foot Bridge" by Hector Richmond and the delightful and subtly humorous "Neighbors" by Winifred Armstrong.

It is a stimulating and challenging show and will undoubtedly excite plenty of comment.

The public is being asked to vote on their favorite picture and two prizes are offered for the winners. The show will continue until July 13.

SAFETY CABLES GUARD LOOKOUT

Victorians with out-of-town visitors to be shown around this summer will find the scenic lookout atop King George Terrace, on the skirts of Gonzales Hill, greatly improved this year.

Oak Bay public works crews have widened the parking area at the top of the climb and have provided a paved surface. This week, workmen are erecting concrete pillars from which wire cables will be strung as a safety measure.

RARE SPECIMENS

Hand Weavers Exhibiting Old Crafts

Close to 400 articles, ranging from an ancient Chinese tapestry to a modern curtain of gaily colored wool and bamboo, are being shown this week by the Victoria Hand Weavers' Guild in the Duke of Kent and Princess Charlotte rooms at the Empress Hotel.

The non-competitive show opened this morning and will continue Friday and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Work of 50 local hand weavers is shown, as well as outstanding examples of fine work by other Canadian and European craftsmen.

Local products include quilts, table covers, dresses, suiting material, purses and evening bags. A French-Canadian bedspread on display bears an 1860 date mark, while a Roman scarf shown by Mrs. J. E. Godman goes back over 200 years.

For those interested, demonstrations are to be given each afternoon and evening of spinning and weaving. Also an attraction is a display explaining the silk-making process from the cocoon stage to the spun product.

The current show is the sixth annual event since the war. Mrs. Frances Clark is chairman of the exhibition committee.

BIG POWER BOAT FLEET WILL RACE TO NANAIMO

Nanaimo harbor will present a rare sight on the evening of July 12 when millions of dollars' worth of yachts from B.C. and U.S. points drop anchor at the conclusion of the international cruiser race.

Including George H. Patton of Victoria with his posh 48-foot Aileen, at least 10 members of the Nanaimo Yacht Club have signified that they will enter the classic.

There are indications that two or three boats may be entering from the Royal Victoria Yacht Club and maybe an entry or two from the Capital City Yacht Club.

It is a predicted-log race and this year the starting point will be Port Madison, Wash.

Entrants will start out in relays, the first group leaving early Saturday morning. Finishing times will be broken, the first reaching Nanaimo harbor about 6 p.m., others arriving at 7, 7:30 and 8 p.m.

RECORD ENTRY

Officials in charge of the International Power Boat Association believe this year's event will draw a record entry of about 200 competitors.

Boat skippers must turn in their logs before starting. There will be four observation points en route, and competitors will be scored on the times they actually pass the points compared to their predicted times.

Mr. Patton will be out to add to earlier laurels he has won with the Aileen. He was crowned champion in the 1949 gruelling "Capital-to-Capital" predicted-log race from Olympia, Wash., to Juneau, Alaska.

HITLER WOULDN'T DO IT!

Old Bill Stays in Jail Despite Strong Protest

Old Bill the pensioner had a few things to say in police court today in answer to a drunkenness charge but it wound up costing him about $1 a minute.

Police officer Ken Williamson arrested Bill a couple of days ago because, he told the court, "I saw the accused staggering around and using bad language."

"What was his condition?" asked Magistrate H. C. Hall.

"He was staggering," replied Williamson.

"People stagger around for lots of reasons," said the magistrate. Williamson added that old Bill looked as if he had been drinking. Not so, said Bill.

WRESTLER'S GRIP

The police officer, said Bill, told him to go home. "Your honor, I haven't been home since 1914... the officer grabbed me in a Chief Thunderbird hold (Williamson is a professional wrestler) and dragged me up the street," said Bill.

"Why, Hitler wouldn't have tried a thing like that."

Asked if he had taken a drink, Bill said someone had offered him one "but I said 'no dice'."

City prosecutor Alan Bigelow asked Bill if he had ever been convicted of drunkenness.

"You bet your life!" said Bill. "And I would tell you how many times if there weren't so many people in court."

Everyone was laughing by this time... everyone, that is, except old Bill.

He was fined $10 or three days. "I've been in here (jail) four days now," said Bill in a shocked voice.

DISTURBANCE NEARING

Weather Outlook Dull

A weather disturbance moving about the Queen Charlotte Islands is expected to knock today's clear skies and balmy air right into the middle of a damp Friday.

High temperature today at the city weather office was 61 degrees, and much higher in the city out of the light breeze.

Cloudy skies are expected overnight, and possible showers Friday morning. Temperatures will range between 50 and 65 degrees, and winds will be light.

According to the weatherman's summary of last month, June 11 went down in the books as having had the lowest maximum temperature for a June day since weather records were started in Victoria. Maximum temperature was 48.5.

Highest temperature for the month was 70 on June 18; lowest 43 on June 12.

Off to Camp

Members of the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's), the 13th Field Ambulance, R.C.A.M.C., and the 45th Sanitary Section, R.C.A.M.C., of the local reserve army, leave Victoria Friday afternoon bound for Vernon for 10 days of training under the reserve summer camp plan. Most will leave here on the 2:10 Vancouver steamer, others will fly. Majority will en-train for Vernon in Vancouver Friday night, others making the journey by car.

Victoria Leads Campaign to Abolish Federal Tax Concessions By Cities

The Victoria-backed resolution urging abolition of tax concessions by municipalities to the federal and provincial governments has won approval of the Canadian Mayors' and Municipalities' Federation in session at Calgary.

Word to this effect was received from Mayor C. L. Harrison by the Times today.

At the same session the Victoria resolution aimed at ending federal 10 per cent taxes on signs and other equipment made in municipal-operated workshops for use within the municipalities was passed.

Provincial and federal governments should get no special tax concessions from municipalities, it was agreed.

The conference resolved federal and provincial governments pay tax on their properties like other persons.

Big Beach Towel Could Almost Double as Carpet

By PENNY SAVER

After that glimmer of sun yesterday, I feel a wee bit assured that we may be in for some hot weather. When that day comes we'll all tumble out to the backyard or the beach.

And what could be better to take along with us than a huge, and I do mean huge, beach towel.

I spotted one in my travels that could very easily double as a carpet it is so large.

It particularly took my fancy as the pattern was bright-dotted with anchors and sea-shore patterns.

The towel, which measured 39 inches by 72 inches was priced at $4.95.

Was just going to leave the corner when I spotted a glorious selection of straw sun hats. Thought it would be a good idea to tell you about them.

The selection catered mostly to the children. Take for instance the impressive-looking cowboy hat. It was made of straw, but trimmed up to the "nine's" in true cowboy fashion. Was selling for 90 cents. Then there was a Mexican-style straw, they were 65 pennies.

For the little girl I saw sweet bonnet-style straws in a variety of colors for 60 pennies. And for the same price they were showing "little girl" coolies. They were made of a weave of colored straws.

Everybody loves a full cotton skirt for the summer.

Did you know that you could buy one for $2.98? That's right. I saw dirndl and circle skirts of the finest quality marked at $2.98. Could hardly believe my eyes!

The skirts are artistically patterned—not too bright, but just right for warm-weather wear.

In the size 10 to 14-X range, there are picolay, that wonderful crease-resistant material that is so popular this year. A gay circus pattern circles the basic white and the waistband is neatly elasticized.

Mother and daughter can both step out in smart summer skirts.

Living north or south of the border between Canada and the United States means more differences than the words of the national anthem or design of the flag. For instance, in 1950 the average United States citizen ate 389 eggs while the average Canadian, during the same year, ate 276 eggs. Our American cousins also consumed more poultry per person, 31 pounds during 1950, compared with 22 pounds for the average Canadian.

Here are the facts about this new penicillin tooth powder: In a 2-year test among hundreds of school children, DENTOCILLIN actually reduced decay 55% — 5 times the reduction reported for a leading ammoniated formula of a famous university. And, because the anti-decay action of penicillin lasts up to 24 hours, DENTOCILLIN is effective with just morning and evening brushing. Gets teeth shining clean. Tastes wonderful. Recommended by thousands of dentists. Start your family using DENTOCILLIN, today. No prescription needed. Only 75c for 3 months' supply.

At Sweet Luxury Of Summertime... relaxing in the garden with frosty glasses of refreshing iced coffee. And for iced coffee with lots of flavour, I always use INSTANT CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE. There's a real refreshment! And it takes just a second to make iced coffee with Instant Chase & Sanborn. Here's what you do:—

Place one rounded teaspoon of Instant Chase & Sanborn in a tall glass. Half fill with tapwater and stir until dissolved. Then add ice.

Wonderful! — and so right and easy to serve when friends come to visit. (For making in quantity add 2 rounded teaspoons to a quart of water.) Instant Chase & Sanborn (the "instant" made by real coffee people) saves you up to 40c a pound compared with ground coffee!

Summer Fruits are so wonderful. And one of the very best things about them, is the delightful variety of jams and jellies you can make with them now, for winter's enjoyment. With CERTO FRUIT PECTIN, this is really a quick and easy matter! You can do down those tempting, delicious fruits and make superb jams and jellies in only 1 1/3 the time of the former long-boil method. So much more of the true fruit flavour is retained — and results with Certo are always sure. You'll find you get up to 50% more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit. So out with the jam and jelly jars. Make sure of your winter's enjoyment of summer fruits, right now! Just follow the easy recipes, found in the booklet, under the label of each bottle of Certo.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Yes, a Woman in Her 30's Can Develop Her Bust

Q. "Can a woman in her thirties develop her bust with exercise as those younger can?"

A. Yes. In filling out the bust-line we simply develop the muscles of the chest.

Q. "Is there any way to hide varicose veins on the thighs? I would feel ashamed to wear a bathing suit when I look like this. I have a bursted vein about the size of a quarter on my thigh."

A. My guess is that you do not really mean varicose veins but those small little capillaries which often appear on the legs, even when a woman is quite young. You can hide them with waterproof leg makeup. The bruise or blue spot you mention may indicate a vitamin C deficiency. At least this vitamin has been correlated with blood vessel health.

Q. "Can anything be done to erase lines about the eyes?"

A. Yes, you can improve the condition. If you are underweight, gain a few pounds. Get plenty of sleep. Watch your facial mannerisms and wear glasses if you need them or sun glasses when in the bright light. These are some of the causes. Also use eye cream at night. Pat this about the eyes. If you have crow's-feet at the corners of the eyes, massage the cream in, using your third finger in a rotary motion. Massage along the line. A few weeks of this and you will see a difference.

Q. "I do not believe my proportions are right. I am 23 inches in the waist, 31 1/2 in the bust, and 35 1/2 in the hips. I weigh 100 pounds and look thin. I am 5 feet, 2 inches tall."

A. You really are quite a lot underweight. It may be that your too large hip measurement is due to bony structure through the hips. I suggest that you gain some weight. While doing so, take hip reducing and bust developing exercises. The extra pounds will also help fill out your bustline. There is too much difference between your bust and hip measurements.

Josephine Lowman suggests bust-developing exercises, like this one. Bend elbows slightly, turn elbows in toward the face a little as you clench the fists hard.

Summer Footwear Looks Light, Airy and Smart

The word for women's shoes seen in the Canadian Fashion Parade this summer is... naked and colorful, literally "next to nothing" on the foot. Men, too, have snipped a leaf from woman's book, taken to wearing summer footwear to go with summer suits—lighter weight types, laceless slip-ons, nylon mesh combinations, woven and ventilated vamps, platform wedge casuals for wear with linen or cotton slacks suits and beach clothes, colored leather sandals for beach or pool or cottage.

For women the smart Canadian summer shoe is a "bare necessity." Chosen for the occasion, it is both airy and comfortable. Even the closed pump is more ornamental, more open, prettier. Newest recipe for chic in wearing apparel being the pale coat over the black dress, the very open pump or naked sandal in velvety black suede or glistening black patent leather with matching bag, sparks the costume. On the other hand, the black shoe with this season's fashion-wise all-white ensemble provides a dramatic accent. A naked stripping sandal or low cut opera in bright red kid or calf also color spikes the all-white costume, the black linen or sheer cocktail or after-five dress, goes beautifully with prints in pale pink (yes, you can wear a dash of red with pale pink), yellow or black and white.

The airy open pump with its open vamp treatment and new throatline teams perfectly with this season's suits, which, while still tailored, have low necklines, softer detailing; the newer, softer

Meet in Vancouver

Mrs. W. G. Wilson went to Vancouver last week-end to meet Mrs. R. J. Wilson, Toronto, and her two granddaughters, Miss Sheila Ramsay, New Liskeard, Ont., and Miss Nancy Anne Lord, Toronto. They are all staying in the mainland city for a week at Sylvia Hotel. Mrs. W. G. Wilson will return to Victoria on Saturday and the eastern Canada visitors will arrive on Sunday to spend several weeks here as guests of Dr. and Mrs. Wilson at their Pemberton Road home.

Ship's Bell Used as Font

Last Sunday afternoon in the wardroom of H.M.C.S. Cayuga, Rev. Bruce Peglar, naval chaplain, officiated at a christening ceremony in which the infant daughter of Lieut.-Cmdr. and Mrs. D. R. Saxon, 2110 Windsor Road, received the names Margaret Alayne. The ship's bell was used as a font. Godparents are Mrs. R. E. McBurney, Ottawa, for whom Miss Marian Dundas stood proxy, and Lieut. (S) Fred Heatley. Following the ceremony a reception was held in the wardroom for 50 guests. Lieut.-Cmdr. Saxon, who returned from Korean waters in mid-June in the Cayuga, saw his baby daughter for the first time then, when she was eight and one-half months old.

'At Home' for Newlyweds

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Pinhorn, Quadra Street, were at home during the past week to their son-in-law and daughter, Sqdn. Ldr. and Mrs. J. D. Hopkins, who were married on June 14 in Toronto.

Guests included Mrs. G. C. Pinhorn, Mr. and Mrs. V. G. Pinhorn, Mrs. R. K. McLean, Miss P. McLean, Mrs. S. Hughes, Mrs. C. Lea, Mrs. Atkins, Mrs. H. Hodson, Mrs. A. Wolfe-Milner, Mrs. P. Neale, Mrs. A. Morris, Mrs. R. Angus, Mrs. Gordon Bell, Group Capt. and Mrs. A. R. Layard, Mrs. D. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. S. Hoole, Brig. and Mrs. Thackray, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Pease, Mr. and Mrs. V. Eardley-Wilmot, Capt. and Mrs. MacMurray, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd MacKenzie, Miss M. Pearce, Miss M. Hambly, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hutchison, Mr. A. Terry, Mrs. John Hutchison and Mr. and Mrs. F. Hawkins.

Miss Georgiana Wilson has returned to her Pemberton Road home after a seven-week vacation in eastern Canada and the United States. Miss Wilson travelled by air. Included in her itinerary was New York, Salt Lake City and Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McGill, Tattersall Drive, returned to their home earlier this week, following a month's trip during which time they visited Banff and Winnipeg, then Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa and Guelph by way of the Great Lakes, Detroit, Chicago and Yellowstone National Park. En route home they joined their daughter, Trudie, who has been teaching in Montreal. Miss McGill accompanied her parents to this city.

CLUB WOMEN'S NEWS

Summer Tea—At Vesuvius Bay Lodge, Ganges branch, Catholic Women's League held a summer tea and sale of home cooking and needlework. Mrs. J. H. Lamb acted as hostess and the sum of $116.65 was realized. Tea was poured by Mesdames F. H. Newham and R. T. Britton and conduced by Mesdames H. Carlin and E. Patchett, assisted by Misses Anna St. Denis, Joan McDonald, Sheila and Diane Carlin. Home cooking stall was conduced by Mrs. A. McDonald and Mrs. George St. Denis, and needlecraft by Mrs. Walter Jameski and Mrs. A. E. Marcotte.

Strawberry Tea—Thirty dollars was realized for St. Mary's Guild church funds from a recent well-attended strawberry tea given at home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Roddis. Tea and strawberry shortcake were served by Mesdames A. J. McManus, A. McManus, G. Proudfoot, E. Lacy, D. Dane, H. B. Dickens, and Misses Gladys Shaw and Janice Hepburn. President Mrs. W. Hipsley presided. A well-filled hamper was donated to Boys' Camp on Thetis Lake during the afternoon.

Birthday Party—A profit of $489.84 was made from a recent birthday party given by Ladies' Auxiliary, Salt Spring Branch of the Canadian Legion. Most popular stalls were "daffy" stall which netted $90.85 and home cooking, $90.30. At a recent meeting $40 was voted towards S. J. Willis band fund. A parcel of provisions was sent to a soldier in Korea. A report of the provincial convention was given by Mrs. R. T. Britton. Refreshments were served by Mesdames C. Mout and M. Mout during which a birthday cake was presented to Mrs. H. Deyell, first vice-president.

Eastern Star Garden Party

Annual garden party of Queen City Chapter No. 5, Order of the Eastern Star, will be held at the home of Capt. and Mrs. George Dance, 22 Wellington Avenue, next Wednesday afternoon. The affair will be opened at 2.30 by Miss Ethel Brown, past matron. There will be stalls of home cooking and candy, home produce, ice cream, a lucky dip, games, chicken dinner, groceries and pillow cases. Afternoon tea will be served. General conveners are Mrs. Kay Graham and Mrs. Libby Stothart.

Kindergarten Party

Ganges Innis Kindergarten break-up party, under supervision of teacher Mrs. Evan MacMillan, was held recently, entertaining parents and friends. Prizes were awarded Hughie Jones, for regular attendance; Tommy Ayres, greatest improvement; and Wayne Lakberg, best behaviour.

Following a children's tea, tea was served to the guests by Mrs. B. Parkinson from an attractively decorated table. Assisting the hostess were Mesdames T. F. Ayres, A. Baldwin, P. D. Crofton, B. Greenhaugh, L. Hanke, W. R. Hobday, D. Jones, L. Lakberg, A. J. Smith, J. C. Smith and Miss Marguerite Holford.

"Plenty of safe, whole milk for the cottage this year!"

"Yes, Al. No taking chances with our milk supply like last year."
"This Borden's Klim is wonderful for the cottage. Pasteurized whole milk in powder form."
"Yes, Klim certainly beats those powdered skim milks. Good to drink and best for cooking too."
"And how! Klim's richer and better 'cause it's got the cream right in it."
"Most important, though, it's safe 'cause it's pasteurized and sealed in air-tight cans."

"And Borden's Klim is so easy to mix—just add to water and beat, or place in a sealer and shake. Klim stays fresh in the can weeks after it's opened, too."
"Yes, in every way, Borden's Klim settles the cottage's milk supply problem."
Get Borden's Klim at your grocer's in 1, 2½ or 5 lb. tins. 1 lb. makes over three quarts of rich, safe, whole milk.

Married Recently in Toronto

Following a two-week holiday in this city, Sqdn. Ldr. and Mrs. J. D. Hopkins, who were married in Toronto on June 14, will leave this week end for Toronto from where they will motor to Colorado Springs to make their home. The former Wendy Pinhorn was a captain with the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps in Toronto. While here they have been the guests of Mrs. Hopkins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Pinhorn, Quadra Street.

Parish Fete Set for Saturday

Contributors to stalls for St. Andrew's Cathedral parish summer fete, to take place Saturday afternoon in parish grounds and hall, View Street, were entertained at a tea in the parish hall by executive members of the senior subdivision, Catholic Women's League.

Mrs. C. M. Mulcahy and Mrs. M. Morning presided at the table. Convener, Mrs. M. Hanley, was assisted by Mrs. A. Johnston and guests were received by Mrs. T. Hartnell, president. Mrs. J. Michaels was in charge of contributions. Among the hand-made articles were nylon flowers made by Mrs. Hartnell and members of the nuts.

Garden Fete Makes $350 for Work Of St. John Ambulance Brigade

Held in the spacious grounds at the York Place home of Mrs. C. F. Armstrong and Mrs. M. F. Driscoll, the annual garden party of St. John Ambulance Brigade, postponed from last Saturday, drew a large crowd of friends and members, Wednesday afternoon. A sum of $350 was realized. Mrs. P. A. Gibbs, wife of the reeve of Oak Bay, declared the affair opened and was presented with a corsage by little Anita Lee Davis. Mrs. E. J. Harwood, district commissioner for Vancouver Island, and Mrs. E. Rogers, corps superintendent of Victoria Nursing Corps, received guests. A home cooking stall was in charge of Mrs. M. Thompson; miscellaneous and candy, Mrs. B. Anderson; white elephant and flowers, Mrs. E. Humble and Mrs. P. MacDonald; parcel post and miscellaneous articles, Mrs. L. Barker; bingo, Mr. Ralph Leeman; candy, pop, jellies and jams, St. John's Cadets. Afternoon tea was served by the St. John Auxiliary and conduced by Mrs. R. Felton. Mrs. W. W. Bell was at the gate.

A program of dances was presented on the lawn by pupils of the Velda Wille School of Dancing. You can't beat a hot fudge sundae when it comes to pleasing the young crowd. Impress the gang with one made this way. Put a scoop of ice cream in the bottom of a dish, cover with the hot fudge sauce and sprinkle with chopped California walnuts. Then for the final blaze of glory, top each with a lump of sugar soaked in lemon extract. Light the sugar cube, turn down the lights and serve flaming.

Double Ring Ceremony In Fairfield Church

Pink snapdragons contrasted with white daisies decorated Fairfield United Church for the recent double-ring ceremony which united Ruby Ann East and Dennis Law.

Rev. W. Allan officiated for the daughter of Mrs. V. East, Scott Street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Law, Basil Avenue.

Howard East gave his sister in marriage. She was gown in floor-length shimmering satin accented with an embroidered bodice styled with sweetheart neckline and lilypoint sleeves. The bride's chapel-length veil cascaded from a headdress of seed pearls and she carried a colonial bouquet of red roses and blue delphiniums matched with a bandeau of blue and white delphiniums. Douglas Townson was best man and ushers were Delbert East, brother of the bride, and Frank Cox, brother-in-law. A three-tier cake topped with a miniature bride and groom centred the bridal table at the reception in the Cherry Bank Hotel. David Slater proposed the toast to the bride. Upon leaving for her honeymoon in the United States the bride donned a pink gabardine suit with navy accessories and white shortie coat.

Women 'Naturals' On Assessing Job

TORONTO, July 3 (CP).—There's a group of doorbell-ringers here who easily hurdle the hardest question of all without getting the door slammed in their faces or bitten by the family dog.

The hard question? Asking a woman how old she is. The reason the interviewers can get away with it is that they're all women.

For the first time in the history of Toronto's assessment department, women are doing most of the leg work and lifting much of the burden from the shoulders of regular assessors. The women travel door to door in residential districts, gathering information used in preparing voters' and jury lists and population figures. The women knock on 70 to 90 doors in the course of a day's work.

Mayors Warned Of War Threat

But, Says Pearson, Free World Should Soon Reach Point Where Atom Bomb Not Necessary

CALGARY, July 3 (CP).—The free nations should soon reach the point where they needn't rely on the atom bomb to deal with Russia, External Affairs Minister Pearson said Wednesday night.

But he warned that they would make their biggest mistake by yielding to the temptation now to cut down on defense spending.

"The danger remains great and pressing," he said in an address prepared for delivery before the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

"As our collective strength grows," Mr. Pearson said, "we should recover a sense of security."

I would warn you, however, that there is no occasion whatever for relaxing our efforts or for any form of complacency. This is no time to lean on our oars.

"The armed forces and equipment of the Soviet Union are mighty and are increasing. The disproportion between their forces and those readily available to the west remains serious. No gap has yet been closed."

"It is true... that we are making headway towards security and should before long reach the point where our defenses will have reached the required level and where the free world will not have to rely on atom bombs as its main protection against aggression."

"But this, I want to emphasize again, will not easily be achieved. Nor will we likely be able to say at any particular moment that we have reached the point of relative safety at which we can relax our effort."

"We have certainly not reached that point yet."

The west had escaped the fire up to now, but there was still much inflammable material lying around. That should be remembered as the bills for fire protection—taxes—came in. There would be a temptation to cut down on the cost of defense.

"We could make no greater mistake than to yield to such a temptation," the minister said. The North Atlantic Treaty Organization was getting stronger but was not yet strong enough.

"So let us," Mr. Pearson said, "finish this job of collective protection—it may not take too long—and then we can direct more of our resources and energies to the constructive purposes of civilian and national development."

Seized Italian Tanker Rammed In Aden Harbor

ROME, July 3 (AP).—The tanker Rose Mary, held in Aden Harbor after an attempt to run a British blockade on Iranian oil, today was reported damaged by collision with a British vessel.

The Italian Middle East Oil Company, for whom the ship is carrying, said it received a brief cable that the Rose Mary had been rammed, but neither the name of the British ship nor the extent of damage was given.

The Rose Mary, carrying approximately 1,000 tons of Iranian oil, sold to a Swiss company by the Italian concern, is held in Aden by a court order. The order was obtained by the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, which is fighting the Tehran Government's nationalization of its Iranian oil properties.

Pale Blue With Elastic Top

Off in the evening when I leave the house, I wander down to the near boat-house. I sit on a bench or sometimes the rail, as I watch the boats with motor or sail. Everyone's busy with tackle or rod, while I sit there, like a bump on a log. I wonder, I muse, could I keep afloat, if I should buy a little sail-boat?? Could I handle the tiller, get the feel, or does an engine have more appeal?? I saunter down & out on a float, I run my hand long the side of a boat. I rock it a little, it seems quite steady. I look up the mast & feel quite heady. I picture myself in a green McIntosh, gripping the wheel with the gunnals a-wash. Close-reefed I've hauled her, I'm bowling along, the wind in the rigging a salty song. The G.F.'s for'ard with the wind in her hair, the jibs are flyin', I've ballooned out a pair. Then back I am, & on the float-board, as two young things climb aboard. A boy & a girl & both in their teens, Indian sweaters & pale blue jeans. I moved away & sat on a pail, but I watched as they got her under sail. She tilted gently, then away she flew, around the point & out of view. I went back & sat on the sand, & sifted the stuff thru my hand. Busy little boats were backing out, greetings, laughs, & many a shout. And the clothes they wore, it seemed to me, all were related, blue like the sea. Over my britches, I cast my eyes down, to my Gabardine, a business brown. Which I wear down here in the store, when selling a sofa or stuff for your floor. And speaking of sofas I'd just like to bleat, we have the keenest new "sectional" suite. But we better get back & wind up our yarn, for "commercials." I KNOW, you don't give a darn. So today in a store, I gave some long-greens, for elastic tops on a pair of blue jeans. And each new shoe has a rubber sole, so again last nite, I went for a stroll. I bounced along on the inch thick rubber, no longer I sulked like a lonely landlubber.

I rented a boat, down the ramp I flew, I rowed like crazy, way out in the blue. Then I rowed back, the for'd line fast, I felt I'd arrived, was a sailor at last. I easily mingled with others now, as if I'd come from far Hankow. Then I walked home a sort of trance, just loving myself, IN MY PALE BLUE PANTS.

BIRDS FLY IN STYLE

Penguins Due in Vancouver

VANCOUVER, July 3 (CP).—As of today Vancouver zoo is the only one in Canada possessing penguins.

A number of birds are due to arrive here today aboard a specially equipped aircraft. They are a gift from the Governor of the Falkland Islands.

They were flown over the tropical jungles of South America in flying "houses of ice" landed at Miami, Fla., then flown to New York where they were transferred to the westbound Trans-Canada Air Lines plane.

"We thought we'd lost them for a while when a South American airline plane developed engine trouble and had to land in an intensely hot spot, but they survived," said curator Allan Best.

Northwest Territories May Soon Be Canada's Newest Boom Country in Oil Council Told

OTTAWA, July 3 (CP).—The rulers of the vast Northwest Territories were told Wednesday the north may soon bolster Canada's oil boom and that its mining prospects could easily double the population there in 10 years.

The predictions came from Maj.-Gen. H. A. Young, commissioner of the territories, as the Territories Council came together in Ottawa, a little Parliament composed of five civil servants and three elected representatives.

This is the second meeting for the elected northerners—Frank Carmichael, a retired trapper and trader from Aklaivik; James Brody, a Fort Smith trader; and Mervin Hardy, who works for a mining firm in Yellowknife. They attended their first council meeting in Yellowknife some months ago.

Mr. Carmichael came from the Arctic Ocean where, he told a reporter, it's light 24 hours a day now and just about as hot as Ottawa at mid-day "but always cool at night."

Gen. Young's opening address—a sort of Speech from the Throne reporting on the situation in the north and the issues before the council—was buoyant and full of hope.

Economic growth has been tremendous in the last 20 years, he said. The north's economy was "dynamic and surprisingly versatile" with mining, fur trapping and fishing all exporting their goods out of the territories.

Before long it was hoped that the petroleum industry would be exporting oil. The search for oil in

"now is the most spectacular of all explorations in the territories. Oil and natural gas permits granted or applied for during the past 19 months cover 19,000,000 acres. The discovery of oil or gas in sufficient quantities and in favorable locations could greatly stimulate the economic development of the Mackenzie district."

Uranium, radium and gold were the only minerals now in production but "important mining prospects may develop at any time almost anywhere between Hudson Bay on the east, Great Slave and Great Bear Lakes on the west and from the 60th parallel to the Arctic Ocean."

During the last 20 years, the population grew by 72 per cent, to 16,000 from 9,300, mainly through influx of white persons.

PEARSON MOOTS PATRON SAINT FOR JITTERY AGE—ST. VITUS

CALGARY, July 3 (CP).—External Affairs Minister Pearson Wednesday night suggested a patron saint for this jittery age: St. Vitus.

St. Vitus dance is the common name for a disease involving nervous twitches. Speaking to the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, Mr. Pearson nominated the saint because of the "tense and impatient" nature of the times.

He also proposed a variation on grace before meals, for those interested in social-welfare benefits:

"For what we are about to receive, make us truly conscious of the fact that we will have to pay for it."

Steel Firms Accused

Small Companies Urged to Settle

WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP)—President Truman today accused major United States steel companies of "a conspiracy" to prevent settlement of the steel strike. He said the situation does not call for the use of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Truman read to his press conference a prepared statement saying he understood many of the steel companies were ready to settle with the union on all issues but were being prevented from doing so "because of pressure being put on" by others.

He added: "It appears to me to be a conspiracy against the public interest and not a labor dispute." Truman said those companies now in agreement with the union on issues should conclude agreements "and begin producing steel for the welfare of the country."

Congress, in the Defense Production Act sent to Truman last week, made a request that he use the Taft-Hartley Law in the steel dispute.

Emergency provisions of that law permit the government to seek an injunction of a strike which damages the national interest.

Winnipeg Bus Crash Kills 8

Two Men, Five Women, Child Die; 27 Injured in Collision

WINNIPEG, July 3 (CP)—Eight persons were killed and 27 injured early today when a Northland Greyhound bus hurtled into the rear of a big truckload of machinery, stalled on the Pembina Highway near here.

Two men, five women and a child died. One of the injured was not expected to live.

Police and provincial coroner Dr. I. O. Fryer worked through the morning piecing together information to identify the dead. Three women were still unidentified at noon.

Among the victims were a Scottish mother, Mrs. Dorothy Bundy of R.R. No. 1, North Dixie, Troy, Ohio, and her 12-year-old daughter.

The injured included soldiers en route to prairie points on leave from Valcartier, Que.

Following is a partial list of the victims officially identified:

Mrs. Esther Miller, 55, Winnipeg; Louis Nathan Roseman, Minneapolis, Minn.

Three women were unidentified at 12:30 p.m. C.D.T.

A truck driver, Benny Rymer of Winnipeg, was one of the first to reach the scene.

"I rushed to the side of the wrecked bus," he said. "We dragged out four. One was a woman and one was a little girl. She was dead. We covered her with a coat."

"Then it was decided I should direct traffic. The police had not yet arrived. There was lots of hysteria and confusion as the injured tried to get out."

"Rescue workers thought one man pinned in the seat was dead. When they began to move him, he screamed."

The last body was taken from the wreckage nearly four hours after the crash.

Ambulances Roar Down Highway

Ambulances roared down the highway from Winnipeg in relays, carrying back full loads each trip. Police stopped all traffic in both directions. The wreck tied up two other buses, northbound and southbound. The
